SENIOR PROFILE

Dale Conant

Linebacker — 6'1", 233, Apple Valley, Minnesota

It's every schoolboy's dream. To go on after high school to play for the state university. Gopher senior linebacker Dale Conant is living that dream. A native of Apple Valley, Minnesota, Conant came to the University of Minnesota following a stellar high school career, and has been a solid member of the Gopher program. A dependable performer, he will look to see some action tonight against the Nebraska Cornhuskers in the home opener.

A 1985 graduate of Apple Valley High School, Conant was one of the top recruits in the entire state that year. An All-State selection as a senior, Dale was voted the Eagles' Most Valuable Player that year, when he saw action at fullback and linebacker. Included in that season was a performance against arch-rival Rosemount where he rushed for 222 yards on 46 carries, a game he calls his biggest thrill in high school. Following his outstanding senior season, several colleges came calling, but there was really only one choice for Conant.

"When I was growing up I used to watch the Gophers a lot, and I was, fortunately, able to come here and play," he said. "I had other offers, but I basically knew from the beginning when recruiting started that I was going to come here."

After being redshirted in his initial freshman season, Conant has seen action in the past three campaigns for the Golden Gophers. A star fullback in high school, this season he has concentrated on the other side of the ball at linebacker. He earned his first varsity letter in 1986, and has been a contributor on special teams in all three years. When asked what moment stands out above the others from his Gopher career so far, Dale doesn't hesitate to answer.

"The game that I would say stands out is when we were in Ann Arbor, and beat Michigan 20-17," he said. "I was fortunate enough to be able to play in the game, and share in the excitement that everyone else was enjoying that day. All the support that we had when we got back from the fans, the coaches, and all the people that showed up at the airport when we got back was really exciting," Dale recalls.

Conant has been able to successfully make the jump to college football, a difficult one for many players. What are his impressions of the college game?

"Intensity," he said. "When you're in high school it seems like you're the best athlete on the field, but here you have the best athlete from a lot of different schools, and you're no longer the star. You need to have an edge."

"You also learn a lot about life through football —self-discipline, accomplishment, working together, things like that that you can turn around and use in your regular life," he added. "One thing I've learned is to be self-disciplined and to do what's right at the right time, when it needs to be done."

Conant has done what needed to be done not just on the field, but in the classroom as well. He is on course to graduate this spring, majoring in retail merchandising with an emphasis on marketing.

"What I'd like to do is get into sales with a larger firm for a couple of years, and if things take me somewhere else, go from there," Conant says of his post-college plans. He feels that the Golden Gopher program has its academic priorities in order, and adds that of all the goals of the program, "the main desire is to graduate, and the second one is to win."

Conant shares the optimism of many around the program in having high hopes for 1989 despite coming off a sub-par 1988 campaign.

"Last year was a long year, but everyone has come together this year and we're accomplishing some of the goals we want to accomplish," he said. "All the coaches have been really supportive. They work together as a team, just as the players do, to accomplish one goal. To be honest I think we can make another bowl game. Of course our goal is the Rose Bowl, and you always set your goals to the highest possibility, but if we fall short of that we'll still be able to go to another bowl." Conant will be among the Gophers working toward those goals this year, doing what he always dreamed of . . . playing for the Golden Gophers.

SENIOR PROFILE

Pat Cummings

Fullback — 6'1", 217, Madison, Wisconsin

Dependable. That word perhaps best describes Gopher fullback Pat Cummings. Both in the classroom and on the playing field, the senior from Madison, Wisconsin has been a person to count on throughout his career in Gold Country.

Although slowed by injuries throughout his Gopher career, Cummings has persevered through adversity to become a key member of the Gopher offense, while also excelling in the classroom as one of the Gophers' top student-athletes.

Cummings came to the University of Minnesota in 1985 after recording an outstanding prep career at West High School in Madison. He weighed several offers, including a chance to play for the hometown Badgers, but chose to wear the Maroon and Gold.

"I'm from Madison, and I had a lot of pressure to go to Wisconsin, but I knew I didn't want to do that because I'd been in the city my whole life and I knew I wanted to experience something different," he said. "My older brother was a fullback at Northwestern and my mind was basically made up to go there, until I came to Minnesota for a visit and really liked the things that I saw. Most of all I liked the people — I met some really nice people. Also I knew there would be a lot of opportunities for me after I got done with school."

Almost right away after coming to Minnesota, Cummings faced challenges on the football field. He began his freshman campaign at tailback, his high school position, but was then moved to defensive back. Although new to the defensive side of the ball, he adjusted well enough to see some action at corner as a first-year freshman in 1985, when he earned his first letter. He was then switched to flanker, and during spring drills in 1986 was moved to his current spot at fullback.

As if the position switches weren't enough, Cummings also had to fight several nagging injuries during his early days as a Gopher. In 1986, he suffered a broken foot and was redshirted for the season. The following season he was ready to contribute, but was slowed in fall camp by a torn leg muscle which set him back.

"It was real tough, especially when I broke my foot, because I thought I'd have an opportunity to help the team," he said. "The following year I missed a lot of fall camp and got really far behind. I've been through a lot of adversity. But in adversity one of two things can happen. Either you're going to become stronger or become weaker, and I think every time it's been a positive experience. I've made it into one even though it was negative to start. You just become a tougher person."

Although he was still hampered by injuries, 1988 was Pat's best year yet as a Gopher. The 6 foot 1, 217-pounder saw extensive action at fullback, rushing for 47 yards despite being slowed by a broken hand. Standing out in his mind from that season was the contest against Northern Illinois, his first collegiate start.

"I knew all along I could do it, but Octavius Gould was here, playing in front of me, and that was fine because he was a great running back and deserved it," he recalls. "When he got hurt, I prepared really hard so that I'd be able to help the team if they needed me. I felt really good about stepping in there and being able to do the job." But then, "adversity struck again. The following week I probably would have started at Purdue, but in practice that week I broke my hand, so then I was out for another few games."

The injury couldn't hide the fact that Cummings had made huge strides as a Gopher, and his performances last year are one reason why he looms as a major factor in the Gopher offense this year.

Cummings may have had to face adversity on the field, but in the classroom he has had nothing but smooth sailing. A student in the University's prestigious Carlson School of Management, he is just one class shy of earning his degree. Pat is taking the opportunity to explore some of his interests.

"I'm finishing my economics minor, and I'm taking Portuguese, because I went to Brazil as a high school exchange student and I may go back there," he said, "and I also may take a physics class, because that class always interested me in high school." Pat is looking at several options for his future, including furthering his education. "I've thought a lot about grad school, because I feel that I have a lot to learn and my education isn't complete."

Cummings's efforts certainly serve as testimony to the fact that it is possible for athletes to succeed academically. As one of the top students on the squad, he realizes that he is something of a role model for the younger players.

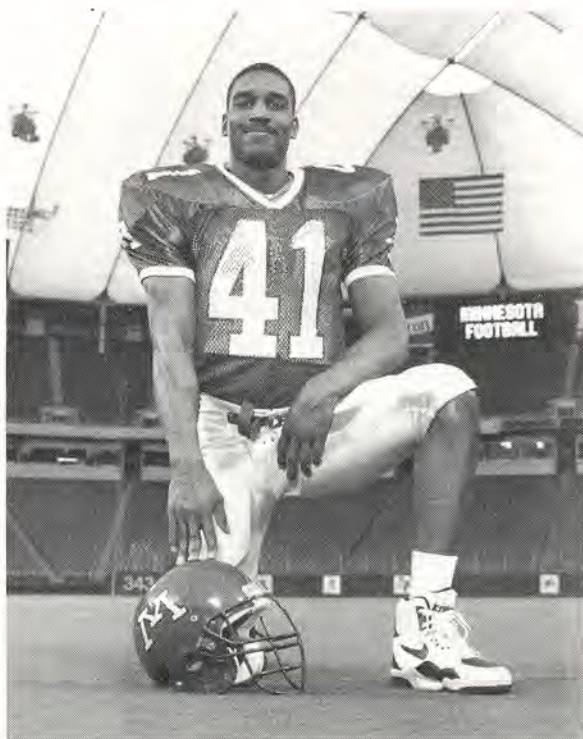

"I didn't see myself as a role model for others until my senior year — when I started to see that things I have done have an influence on others," he said. "The younger people on the team care more about succeeding academically than they did when I first got here. That's a reflection on a lot of people — guys like Jon Melander and Dan Liimatta, who have done really well in school. If the younger guys see the younger guys going to the library and trying to do well in the classroom, it's going to influence them to try to do the same types of things. Role models are critical."

In everything he has done, Pat Cummings has been a credit to the Gopher program. "He's a kid who does what he's supposed to do, the way he's supposed to do it, and he's always ready," Golden Gopher Head Coach John Gutekunst said. "I don't care what group you put Pat Cummings in, he'd be exceptional." The Gopher coaches have come to depend on him to deliver outstanding effort and performance no matter what he does.

SENIOR PROFILE

Doug Evans 41

Strong Safety — 6'1", 191, Montgomery, AL

Most of the players on the Golden Gophers, especially the starters, came to Minnesota after being highly recruited as prep players. But starting strong safety Doug Evans took a different route. The senior from Montgomery, Alabama, started his college career at a junior college, but from there transferred to Gold Country, where he has developed into a solid Division I football player.

Evans was a star performer as a prepster at Derby High School in Montgomery, where he lettered in baseball and track as well as football before graduating in 1985. But it was on the gridiron where he made his biggest mark, lettering four times and earning All-City and All-State recognition as a senior. But the college recruiters did not come asking as he might have hoped. Determined to keep playing football, Evans moved on to Hutchinson Community College in Hutchinson, Kansas.

At Hutchinson, Evans again showed himself to be a top-flight athlete, earning All-Conference recognition there as well. It was then that Minnesota came calling, and Doug moved up to the Division I level.

"I went to a junior college at first, and didn't think I'd be that highly recruited," Evans said. "But Minnesota called, and I knew it was a great opportunity. It's located in an urban setting, and it is a very highly regarded university, and both things were what I was looking for. Also, they recruited me as a student and not just as a football player, and that impressed me."

Evans came to Minnesota in the spring of 1987, and participated in spring practice during that year. He made a positive impression early, and became a factor in the Gopher defensive backfield in the 1987 season. He earned his first letter in that campaign, and also had what he calls his biggest thrill at Minnesota, his first start for the Gophers.

"The game that sticks out is in 1987," said Evans. "I got my first start against Michigan, on national television. I remember being very nervous before, but everything worked out all right. We didn't win, but we had a chance to, and I thought I played pretty well."

Evans recorded 19 tackles during that 1987 season, and was a key factor. His playing time decreased somewhat in 1988, when he recorded only four tackles, but through hard work Evans has returned to a prominent role and has earned a starting spot at strong safety for the 1989 Gophers.

Making the jump up to Division I was a big one for Evans, who has noticed several differences in the level of play from that at the junior college level.

"Compared to junior college, the interior linemen are a lot bigger," Evans said. "There's also a lot more quickness and speed and strength in all the players. But the biggest difference is the size, especially among linemen."

Like the rest of the squad, Evans is quite confident that the Gophers can turn things around and have a solid year after the disappointment of last season's 2-7-2 record.

"Of course we want to be Big Ten champions and win as many games as possible, and go to the Rose Bowl," Evans said. "But we just have to go out and give our all in every practice and in every game. I'm confident that we can have a good year."

In the classroom, Evans is making steady progress toward earning his degree in Urban Studies, a field that has held his interest for some time. In fact, the urban setting of the U of M was one of the things that sold him on the school.

"I'd like to get into some line of work dealing with urban planning," Evans said. "Ideally, I'd work in some sort of city council job, doing demographic work based on the city's population and geographical setting."

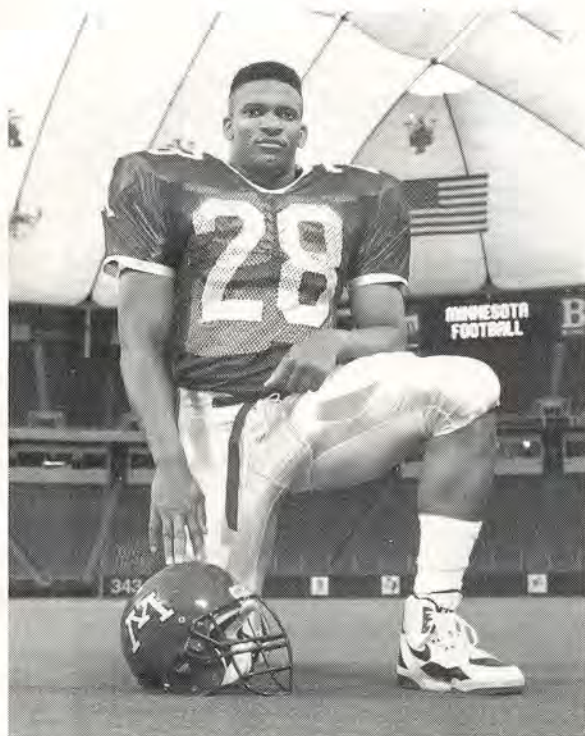

But first Evans will concentrate on helping the Gophers put together a winning season from his strong safety spot. The junior college transfer has found a home in the Gopher defensive backfield, and will be a key for the Gophers tonight against Nebraska.

SENIOR PROFILE

Eddie Miles 28

Defensive End, 6'1", 234, Miami, FL

At 6-1, 234 pounds, Eddie Miles doesn't exactly fit the standard mold of a college defensive end. The senior from Miami, FL is well aware that he needs to rely on every bit of his quickness and savvy in order to be effective against the game's behemoth offensive linemen.

"It doesn't take a rocket scientist to figure out that if I go heads up with some of these linemen, I'm not going to win many of those battles," he said. "Quickness is going to be very important. We have a lot of schemes and stunts that we'll run to make them think a little bit. We're not going to let them just line up and push us off the field. We're going to make them go left, right, whatever it takes to keep them off balance."

A 1986 graduate of Miami Springs High School (FL), Miles fashioned an outstanding prep career in football, basketball and track. On the gridiron, he was a two-time

All-Region and All-County performer, and as a senior, he intercepted an amazing four passes in a single game.

After sitting out his freshman season because of the Proposition 48 Rule, Miles was shifted from split end to linebacker as a sophomore in 1987. He saw action in nine games for the Golden Gophers that season, registering a total of 14 tackles. Last year he saw extensive action, collecting 27 total tackles en route to earning his second letter. Heading into the 1989 season, Miles was on the move once again, taking over one of the Golden Gopher's starting defensive end slots.

Last season's frustrating 2-7-2 season has hung around like a dark cloud over the Golden Gophers, but Miles and his teammates feel that they have the ammunition to turn it around in '89.

With Heisman Trophy candidate Darrell Thompson and flashy split end Chris Gaiters leading the squad on the offensive side of the ball, Miles feels that the Golden Gophers' fortunes on the defensive side are in capable hands as well.

"The defense as a whole will be much stronger," he said. "Besides the line, both Mac Stephens and Ron Goetz had 100-plus tackles last year, and with Jon Leverenz coming back, along with Joel Staats, we have some outstanding linebackers. The defensive backs have been playing as well back there as any group we've had since I've been here."

An ear-to-ear grin comes across Miles' face when he talks of his personal goal heading into the '89 campaign.

"I would like to get a lot more sacks this year," he said, like a true defensive end.

Miles has done a fine job in the classroom at the University of Minnesota and has his career goals firmly embedded in his mind. Instead of patrolling the carpet of the Hubert H. Humphrey Metrodome for the Golden Gophers, the sociology major has his eyes focused on the upper echelon of the corrections field.

"I've always liked the corrections field," he said, "and the warden is the highest man, so you might as well reach for the top."

Nerney Advises Prospective Students

By Gwen Ruff
University News Service

For many university students, academic advisers are on the frontlines in the war against average educations. A good adviser can make the difference between a college career that's ho-hum or terrific.

For advisers like Mary Ellen Nerney, knowing they can make that difference in students' lives fuels their job satisfaction.

"My primary role is to be a listener, to help students ask the right questions," Nerney says. "I have a strong commitment to this university and its students. In a big research university, the faculty can't be the only ears for students."

Nerney has been advising students for six years, three at the College of Liberal Arts and three in her current job as one of four College of Education prospective student advisers. She started her career as a high school art teacher, then got a master's degree in design. In the College of Education, administrators "really like people to advise students who have been teachers themselves. It's helpful to understand what their concerns are," Nerney says.

Some current concerns center around the college's move to five-year programs in teacher education. By 1992 all of the college's teacher-training programs will require five years of study. The move toward postbaccalaureate degrees began in 1987 when social studies, agricultural education and second languages and cultures switched to five-year plans. Home economics and English education are the latest programs to make the change.

At first, the changes alarmed some students, but those feelings have yielded to excitement, Nerney says. Second-language teachers graduating from the first five-year program found they were "very marketable because public schools welcome people who are so well trained," she says.

Mary Ellen Nerney

The switch to five-year programs is also a nationwide trend, and Minnesota is a leader in getting programs going, because College of Education Dean William Gardner is active in national education organizations.

Changes in education may be spurring interest in teaching as a career. Nerney conducts weekly community workshops that draw 25 to 30 people who are thinking about becoming teachers. Many of these people already have successful careers, but they tell Nerney, "I've made the money, but I'm not making any difference in anybody's life."

She advises these prospective students to volunteer in schools to find out if they really like young people and, more importantly, if young people like them. She also tells prospective students what preparation courses they lack and suggests other activities that will strengthen their resumes and what they should be reading for the latest ideas about teaching.

Nerney also says it's important to keep in touch with her university colleagues. She is active in a group of 50 advisers who meet monthly to talk about their jobs. That helps her stay up-to-date on changes in her profession and the latest information that will help students make their choices.

"You have to have accurate information and the only way you get that is networking. Otherwise people don't think of you," she says.

Knowing who her colleagues are and who can provide what help to a particular student is important, because then "you know what kind of a welcome that student will get."

One of the pleasures of her job is "the cycle of education," Nerney says. "There are always new faces, with new goals. You feel that you're doing something to help the students and the university."

And even though she's not in a classroom, Nerney doesn't believe she's left the teaching profession.

"I teach every day," she says. "I teach in groups, and I teach one on one in helping students figure out what they want. I haven't lost teaching, I've just gained an ideal teaching situation."

SENIOR PROFILE

Tyrone Stenzel

Running back — 5'11", 198, Wells, Minnesota

It's an unfortunate fact of life that not everyone can be a star, or see all the playing time they'd like to. However, those who fill out the ranks are still important members of the team. These "role players" help out by providing competition in practice, adding moral support, and in many other ways. Senior Tyrone Stenzel of the Gophers is one of those players.

Although Stenzel has not seen varsity action for the Gophers, he has been a part of the squad for the past three seasons and is working harder than ever during this, his final season, to be a contributing member of the squad.

Stenzel was a multi-sport star at Freeborn (MN) High School, located near his hometown of Wells. Stenzel lettered in three sports at Freeborn, including four times in football. Among his accomplishments were earning All-Conference recognition four times and averaging 5.9 yards per carry as a senior in football, and hitting nine home runs as a senior in baseball. He then set his sights on joining the Golden Gopher program after graduating from Freeborn High in 1985.

After one year at the U of M in which he did not play football, Stenzel decided to transfer to the University of Minnesota-Waseca during the fall of his sophomore year for seasoning. After one season he then transferred back to the Twin Cities campus, where he was allowed to walk on with the Golden Gophers. Just being a part of the Gopher program is an honor for Stenzel, who proudly says, "I'm the first and only person from my school to play Division I football."

The jump was a long one for Stenzel, who played his high school ball at a fairly small school. Major college football, he says, is a big-time commitment in more ways than one.

"It's intense all the time," he says. "I thought going from high school to junior college was a big step — the hitting was harder, and the game was quicker — but from junior college to this level was an even bigger jump. The contact, the speed, and all the practices and meetings — I never imagined that football was this much of a job." After starring in high school, not getting a lot of playing time was an adjustment at first for Stenzel.

"It was tough," he said, "but like the coaches say, we all have a role. I'm looking at school as my main priority and football as secondary, and I guess I can accept my role. I'm trying to earn a spot on special teams this year, though, and hopefully I can get in for some plays before I graduate."

Since joining the team, Stenzel has been impressed by the coaching staff, starting with Golden Gopher Head Coach John Gutekunst on down.

"I think the coaches care," he said. "They treat everybody with respect. Gutey cares about us, and we know that. It's nice to know that he's on your side, if you ever need help."

Stenzel shares the optimism of many others around the Gopher program with his high hopes for the coming season.

The Golden Gophers are eager to put last year's disappointing season to rest and "I think we're going to surprise a lot of people," he said. "I read in the papers where nobody has us picked to finish any higher than fifth in the Big Ten, and that takes a lot of pressure off of us. I think we're going to do better than people think, because we've got some talent. We just have to get our minds set with the attitude that we want to win."

All in all, Stenzel is glad he chose to be a part of the Gopher program, even though he hasn't been able to play a great deal. Both on and off the field, his decision to attend the University of Minnesota has proven to be a very good one.

"I enjoy watching the other players, like Darrell Thompson," he said. "It's just unbelievable, the way he can accelerate the turn on a dime. Just to be able to watch him, and guys like Chris Gaiters — some of the catches he's made are spectacular. Just the guys that I meet and the friends that I have make it worthwhile. I guess more than anything else from college football, I'll remember the friends that I've made."

"I'm five credits away from my degree in animal sciences," he adds. "I grew up on a farm, and I'm interested in working with livestock." He hopes to find work with a pharmaceutical or animal products company after graduation, and start work towards his "ultimate goal — in ten or twelve years I'd like to have my own farm."

In farming or whatever he chooses to do in life, Tyrone will use the dedication and perseverance he has shown as a member of the Gopher squad to his best advantage.

"The beautiful Metrodome at night, surrounded by the vibrant downtown of Minneapolis draws you like a magnet to the fun and excitement of Gopher football."

MINNESOTA

THE HUBERT H. HUMPHREY METRODOME

Minnesota's second 100 years of collegiate football were marked by the move from Memorial Stadium (1924) to the Hubert H. Humphrey Metrodome (1982) in downtown Minneapolis, and the change signified a new era for Golden Gopher football.

Also home to the Minnesota Vikings of the National Football League, the Minnesota Twins of the American Baseball League, and the inaugural season of the National Basketball Association's Minnesota Timberwolves, the "Golden Dome" seats 63,669 fans under a 12-story-high, teflon-coated fiberglass roof.

The move to the Metrodome was made with the hope of making Golden Gopher football all the more enjoyable to Minnesota fans. While you are in the facility for this event, U of M officials ask that you follow these specific rules:

FIRST AID—First aid is available in room 120 on the lower level of the Metrodome. The room is staffed by members of the University of Minnesota Emergency Medical Response team, which has been trained in first aid as well as cardiopulmonary resuscitation techniques. All staff members are certified in American Red Cross Advanced First Aid or Emergency Medical Technician procedures. These staffers have received additional Red Cross training to familiarize them with the unique features of the Metrodome. If you are in need of first aid or emergency treatment or see someone else in need, alert the nearest uniformed usher, or ask for assistance at the nearest concession stand.

LOST AND FOUND—Call Sims Ushering at 644-7000 for assistance.

WILL-CALL TICKETS—Public and press will-call windows are located at the Golden Gopher ticket office on Fifth Street on the south side of the Metrodome.

PERSONAL PAGING—Because University authorities have found it extremely difficult to accommodate requests for emergency announcements over the public address system, all requests for personal paging and announcements will be refused. ANY PERSON EXPECTING AN EMERGENCY CALL IS INSTRUCTED TO LEAVE HIS OR HER NAME AND SPECIFIC SEAT LOCATION ON FILE WITH THE TICKET OFFICE. CALL 624-8080 OR STOP AT THE INFORMATION WINDOW AT THE SOUTH END OF THE METRODOME ON GAME DAY.

BEVERAGE/CONTAINER REGULATIONS—A stadium ordinance prohibits all beverage containers from being brought into the stadium. Alcoholic and non-alcoholic beverages and their containers are not allowed to be brought into the Dome.

The Golden Gophers will strictly enforce this rule. Ushers and security personnel have been instructed to deny entry to anyone attempting to carry in cans, bottles, or paper or plastic containers. Only after the containers have been properly disposed of will entrance to the stadium be permitted.

SMOKING—Smoking is not allowed in the stadium proper, except in designated areas on the first and second deck concourse.

THINK OF OTHER FANS—Spectators

are requested not to stand in the aisles or leave the stands during the last few minutes of the final quarter because of the inconvenience to patrons who desire to have a clear view of the field. Patrons seated near the aisles will appreciate your courtesy in remaining seated until the end of the game.

As spectators and participants, we share a number of privileges and responsibilities. The University has a fundamental concern with conduct that breaks the peace, causes disorder or interferes with the enjoyment of others. Members of the University community whose conduct is in conflict with those concerns will be dealt with according to policies and standards of behavior that apply to University-sponsored events.

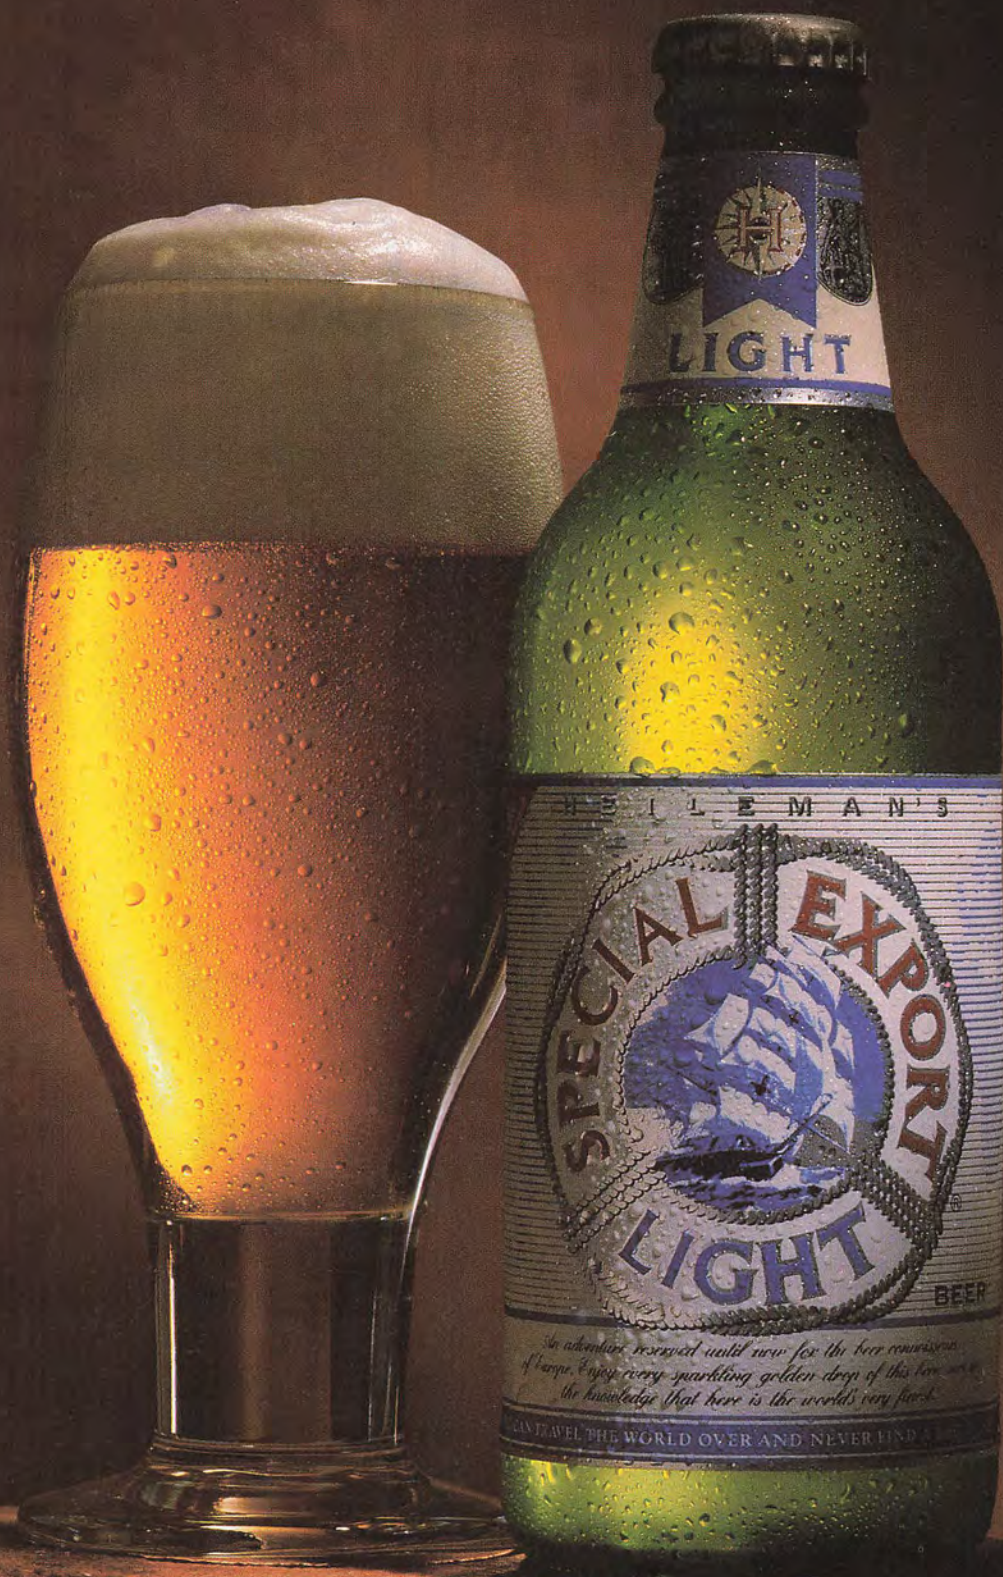

We ask that you be aware of both your responsibility to those around you and of your right to courtesy from them. University staff members are present to assist you if you feel your rights as spectators are not being respected.

If a patron's conduct endangers or disturbs the players, coaches, officials or other patrons, the University reserves the right to remove the offending patron from the premises. No refund will be made.

Every person, regardless of age, must have a ticket. Intoxicants, loud radios, noisemakers and signs may not be brought into the Metrodome, in accordance with University, conference and Metrodome policies.

HEAD COACH JOHN GUTEKUNST

John Gutekunst was named the University of Minnesota's 22nd head football coach on Dec. 5, 1985, just in time to take over the reins of the Golden Gophers for their Independence Bowl assignment against Clemson University.

Minnesota won that contest, 20-13, and Gutekunst found himself going into his first full season as head coach in 1986 with a 1-0 win-loss record.

Gutekunst came to Minnesota as the defensive coordinator under Lou Holtz, the man he replaced in the top spot, and served in that capacity for two seasons before being named head coach.

A 45-year-old native of Sellersville, Pa., Gutekunst was graduated from Penridge High School there in 1962 after gaining all-state honors in both football and basketball.

Gutekunst then enrolled at Duke University and had stand-out careers in baseball as well as football. He was named captain of both of those teams, as a center fielder and defensive back, before receiving his B.A. degree, with a major in religion, in 1966.

Following his graduation, Gutekunst remained at Duke as an assistant coach for 12 years, first as freshman coach, then as offensive line coach, then as linebacker coach, then as defensive secondary coach, for one year as offensive coordinator and finally for three seasons as defensive coordinator

NAMED AS LOU HOLTZ'S REPLACEMENT ON DEC. 5, 1985, GUTEKUNST EARNED HIS FIRST WIN AS HEAD COACH OF THE GOLDEN GOPHERS IN THE INDEPENDENCE BOWL, AS MINNESOTA DEFEATED CLEMSON, 20-13, IN ITS FIRST BOWL APPEARANCE SINCE 1977.

John Gutekunst's College Coaching Record of the Blue Devils.

In 1979 Gutekunst moved on to Virginia Tech, where he spent two seasons as an assistant before becoming defensive coordinator in 1981. He held that post until he was lured to the University of Minnesota.

While Gutekunst was defensive coordinator at Virginia Tech, his clubs ranked among the best in the country. His final two clubs there led the nation in rushing yards allowed. In his final campaign with Virginia Tech, his team gave its opponents only 69.4 yards per game rushing and finished second in the nation in total defense. Virginia Tech also led the nation that year in points allowed.

When Gutekunst took over the defensive coordinator's position at Minnesota, he inherited a club which had the previous season set an NCAA record for most points allowed.

The Golden Gophers cut their defensive standards in half in 1984 under Gutekunst's guidance, and in 1985, when they gained their first postseason bowl invitation since 1977, finished fourth in the Big Ten in total defense.

In 1986, Gutekunst's first full season as head coach, Minnesota finished 5-3 in the Big Ten and 6-5 overall and was invited to the Liberty Bowl. In 1987 it went 6-5, and in 1988, 2-7-2.

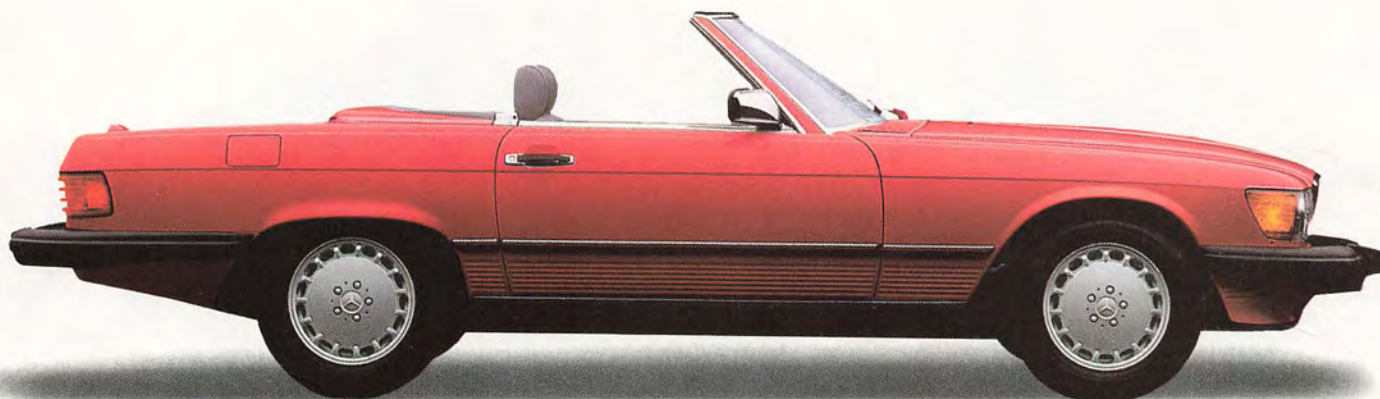

Gutekunst and his wife, Diane, have three children, Brian, 16, Michael, 14, and Jon, 11.

Everybody loves a winner.

DAVE SKRIEN
ADMINISTRATIVE ASSISTANT

Dave Skrien, a former Golden Gopher player and coach, is the administrative assistant to head football coach John Gutekunst at the University of Minnesota.

Then it was on to the University of Minnesota, where he competed in both football and basketball. He played both ways in football, and was the team captain as a fullback in 1950 under the legendary Bernie Bierman.

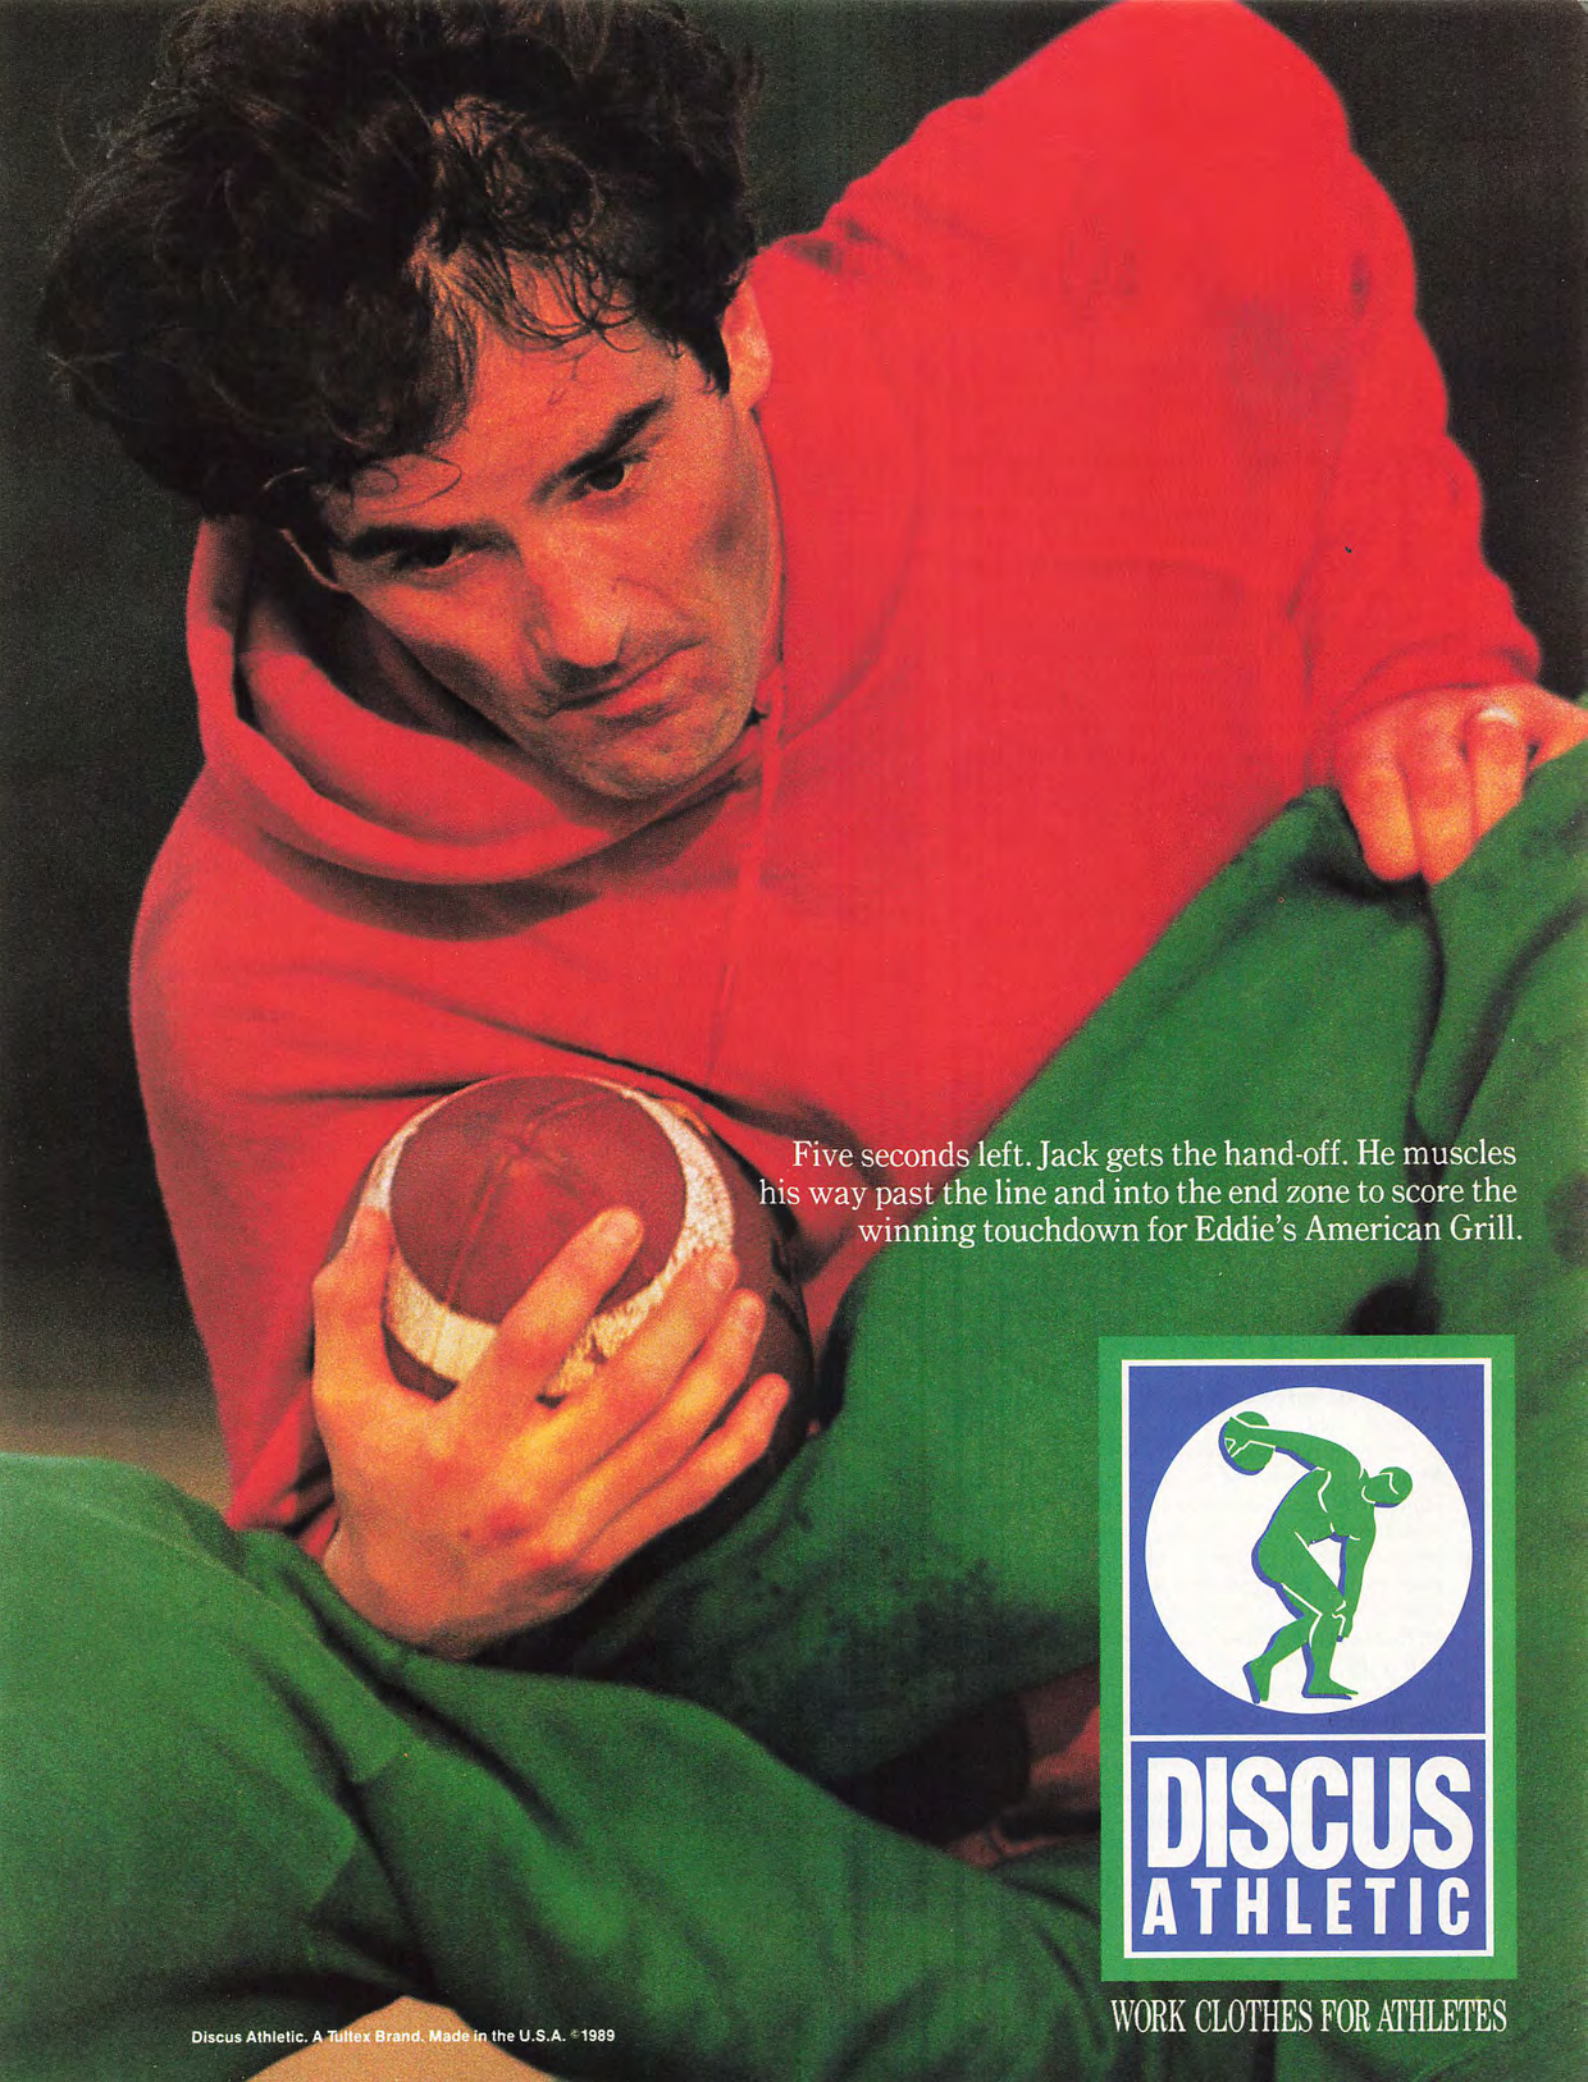

After graduating from the U of M, Skrien played two seasons with the Winnipeg Blue Bombers in the Canadian Football League, helping that club win the Western Division championship and gain a berth in the Grey Cup Game.

His coaching career began at Albert Lea (Minn.) High School and was followed by stints as assistant coach at Ball State, at the U of M under Murray Warmath and at Boise State.

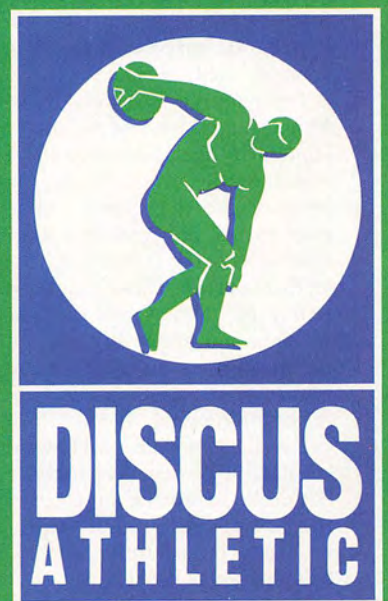

He also coached in the professional ranks, both as an assistant and as the head man, at British Columbia, Edmonton and Saskatchewan in the Canadian League, as well as at Memphis in the World Football League. His B.C. Lions and Saskatchewan teams won three league championships and one Grey Cup.

MINNESOTA "CARES" FOR ITS ATHLETES

The University of Minnesota has long prided itself on its accomplishments in the field of sports medicine, and it recently added a new, modern football training room which represents one of the finest training facilities in the nation.

Coupled with the prestigious services provided by the University of Minnesota hospitals and Health Services, the Minnesota sports medicine staff is able to provide first-class care for all medical situations encountered by its athletes.

The new training room, totalling 2,800 square feet, provides room for nine treatment tables, eight taping tables, a physician's examination room and a hydro-therapy room that includes a four-foot deep Jacuzzi Spa.

Newly added equipment used for the treatment of injuries includes an Electro-Galvanic Stimulator, Shortwave Diathermy, Ultrasound, Hydrocollators, T-E-N-S units and muscle stimulators.

Also included in the football training room is a separate rehabilitation area with the new Cybex II plus Isokinetic Apparatus complete with computer, three stationary Fitron bicycles, an upper body ergometer, a running ramp, pulleys and other free weights.

The football training staff is headed by Tim Kirschner. Working with him are Doug Locy, associate trainer, and Jim Marshall, administrative services coordinator. Dr. Bob Larsen and Dr. Don Severson provide efficient and outstanding care for Minnesota's student-athletes at the University's Boynton Health Center. Dr. Pat Smith, team orthopedist, and Dr. Norman Holte, the team's oral surgeon, also are vital in providing complete medical care.

Preventative measures, as well as data from Minnesota injury reports, are consistently being studied by the medical staff. This information and statistics from the Big Ten Conference's injury reporting system, in which Minnesota participates, indicates that the injury rate at the U of M is being reduced. Knee braces, taping of ankles, custom-fitted mouthpieces, supervised fitting of helmets and equipment by certified trainers and educating the athletes on proper techniques and safe practice principles are rewarding the athletes, coaches and trainers with fewer injuries.

Excellent facilities, a knowledgeable and dedicated staff, preventative measures and a continuous desire to provide only the best medical care to the Minnesota student-athlete assist Coach Gutekunst in his efforts to build a first-class football program at the U of M.

ALL ABOUT THE "U"

When the University of Minnesota was founded as a preparatory school in 1851, Minnesota had been a territory for just two years, and statehood was still seven years away. The school was built on the east bank of the Mississippi River with little more than the pioneers' faith in education.

The school struggled financially in its early years and was forced to close during the Civil War. But the institution survived, partly because of the guidance and financial aid of Minneapolis businessman John S. Pillsbury, who is known as "the Father of the University." The Morrill Act or Land-Grant Act, signed into law by President Lincoln in 1862, also played a major role in the school's survival by giving each state land to be used to provide education for the people of the state.

From those faltering origins, the University has grown into the single greatest center of creativity in the state. The students it educates, the ideas it generates and the medical, scientific, agricultural and economic activities it stimulates represent an enormous resource that contributes directly to Minnesota's economic, intellectual and cultural life.

Today, the University of Minnesota is an international research institution, a land-grant school with a strong tradition of education and public service, and a metropolitan university. The Twin Cities campus, the largest in the University's five-campus system, is among the most comprehensive in the nation, with 18 colleges that offer a full range of academic and professional degrees. A comprehensive campus in Duluth offers undergraduate and graduate programs in northeastern Minnesota. The Morris campus, in the western part of the state, provides a four-year liberal arts program. And two-year technical colleges in Crookston, in northwestern Minnesota, and Waseca, in southern Minnesota, provide paraprofessional and technical education, primarily in agriculture-related fields.

Research accomplishments at the University have improved the lives—sometimes even saved the lives—of people throughout the world. Among the achievements that have come from University researchers have been the continuing success of the world's leading kidney transplant program at the University of Minnesota Hospital and Clinic, the development of the phenomenally successful wheat variety known as "Era" wheat, the development of the world's first total body X-ray scanner, the isolation of uranium isotope U-235, the virtual elimination of dozens of poultry and livestock diseases, and the production of a live calf from freeze-dried sperm. In addition to fostering research projects that have obvious and immediate benefits, the University is a center for the basic research that makes scientific breakthroughs possible.

Service to the people of Minnesota is another way the University plays an important role in the quality of life in the state. More than 150 University programs reach out to Minnesotans, solving problems and bringing to communities the University's vast store of knowledge. The Minnesota Extension Service, for example, reaches almost a third of the people of Minnesota each year through almost 22,000 educational programs.

A variety of cultural and sports events also brings Minnesotans in touch with the University. Performances by major dance troupes are highlights of the year. Large crowds attend Gopher football, basketball and hockey games. The Centennial Showboat and free concerts on the Northrop Mall are popular summer attractions. Children enjoy the touch-and-see room at the James Ford Bell Museum of Natural History and the animal barns of the St. Paul campus.

Of course, one of the University's most important contributions to the state is its graduates. At the University, students are exposed to knowledge—the newest and the most ancient—and emerge prepared to tackle today's problems.

PRESIDENT NILS HASSELMO

Nils Hasselmo is the 13th president of the University of Minnesota.

Born in 1931 in Kola, Sweden, Hasselmo was introduced to American culture through the novels of James Fenimore Cooper and Mark Twain. The allure of America was strong in his homeland, especially after the Allied victory in 1945. His generation befriended American GIs, listened to American jazz on the radio and strengthened ties with emigrant relatives in the New World. As a student of linguistics at Uppsala University, Hasselmo decided to pursue scholarly opportunities in the United States. He earned his B.A. at Augustana College in Illinois and his Ph.D. at Harvard University.

Eastern Minnesota proved to be the ideal laboratory for Hasselmo's main scholarly interest, the modified native dialects of Swedish-Americans. In 1965 he came to the University of Minnesota as an associate professor of Scandinavian studies. During 18 years at Minnesota, Hasselmo served as chair of the Scandinavian department, associate dean of the College of Liberal Arts, and vice-president for administration and planning. Among other accomplishments, he administered the Rajender Consent Decree, the University's commitment to fair hiring practices for women.

In 1983 Hasselmo left to become senior vice-president for academic affairs at the University of Arizona, where he was known as a skillful negotiator and an innovative policy maker. He returned to the University of Minnesota as its president in December 1988.

ATHLETIC DIRECTOR RICK BAY

Rick Bay was named director of men's intercollegiate athletics at the University of Minnesota in December 1988.

He took over the helm of the UM Golden Gopher athletic department from interim athletic director Holger Christiansen, who had been filling in for Paul Giel, Minnesota's director for more than 17 years before he vacated the post in July 1987.

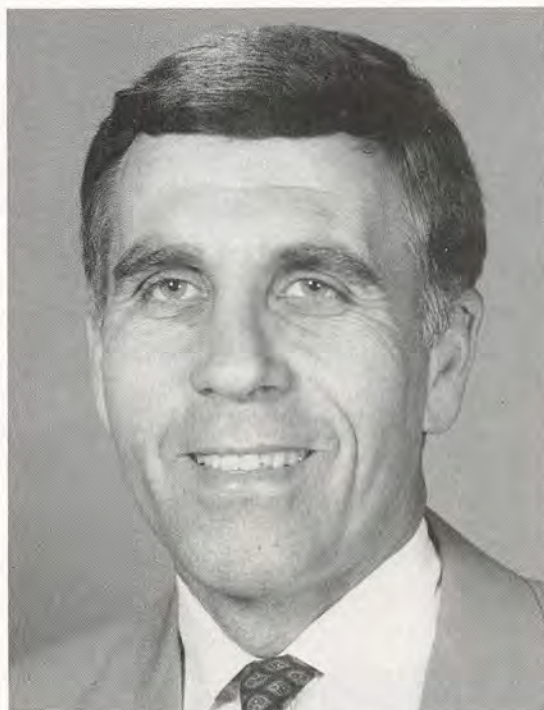

Bay came to the University of Minnesota after just over a year in New York away from athletics. He first served as chief operating officer for the New York Yankees baseball team, and more recently as the chief operating officer of the StarBright Group, Inc., a communications management firm.

The 46-year-old Bay is best known, however, for his capable work in intercollegiate athletics, and he served as the director of athletics at the Ohio State University from 1984-87 before resigning in protest over the firing of football coach Earle Bruce.

Prior to that time, Bay had been the athletic director at the University of Oregon, where he teamed up with Chris Voelz, current director of women's athletics at Minnesota.

Bay grew up in Waukegan, Ill. His father was a wrestling coach and his step-mother an English teacher. He competed in football, baseball and wrestling in high school, and was Illinois Athlete of the Year as a senior. He graduated with a 3.9 grade point average.

Bay attended the University of Michigan on a wrestling scholarship and also played football for the Wolverines. It was as a wrestler that he excelled, however, winning two Big Ten titles and gaining All-America recognition as a junior. He was unbeaten in three years of Big Ten dual-meet competition and was named Big Ten Wrestler of the Year as a senior. He graduated from Michigan in 1965.

Following graduation Bay became assistant wrestling coach at Michigan.

ATHLETIC DIRECTOR
RICK BAY HAS AN UN-
TARNISHED REPUTATION AS AN ADMINISTRATOR AND HAS BEEN A LEADER IN NUMEROUS OTHER AREAS, INCLUDING TAKING A STRONG
STAND ON SUBSTANCE ABUSE.

After four years in that role, he was named head coach. As head coach, he directed his teams to a combined record of 43-5-3, including a 31-2-2 mark in the Big Ten. His 1973 team was Big Ten champion, and his 1974 squad was runner-up in the NCAA. Bay was named college Coach of the Year in 1973.

Bay left coaching after the 1974 season to join the Michigan Alumni Association as associate executive director. In 1978 the Council for Advancement and Support of Education selected the Michigan Alumni Association as the most outstanding organization of its kind in the country.

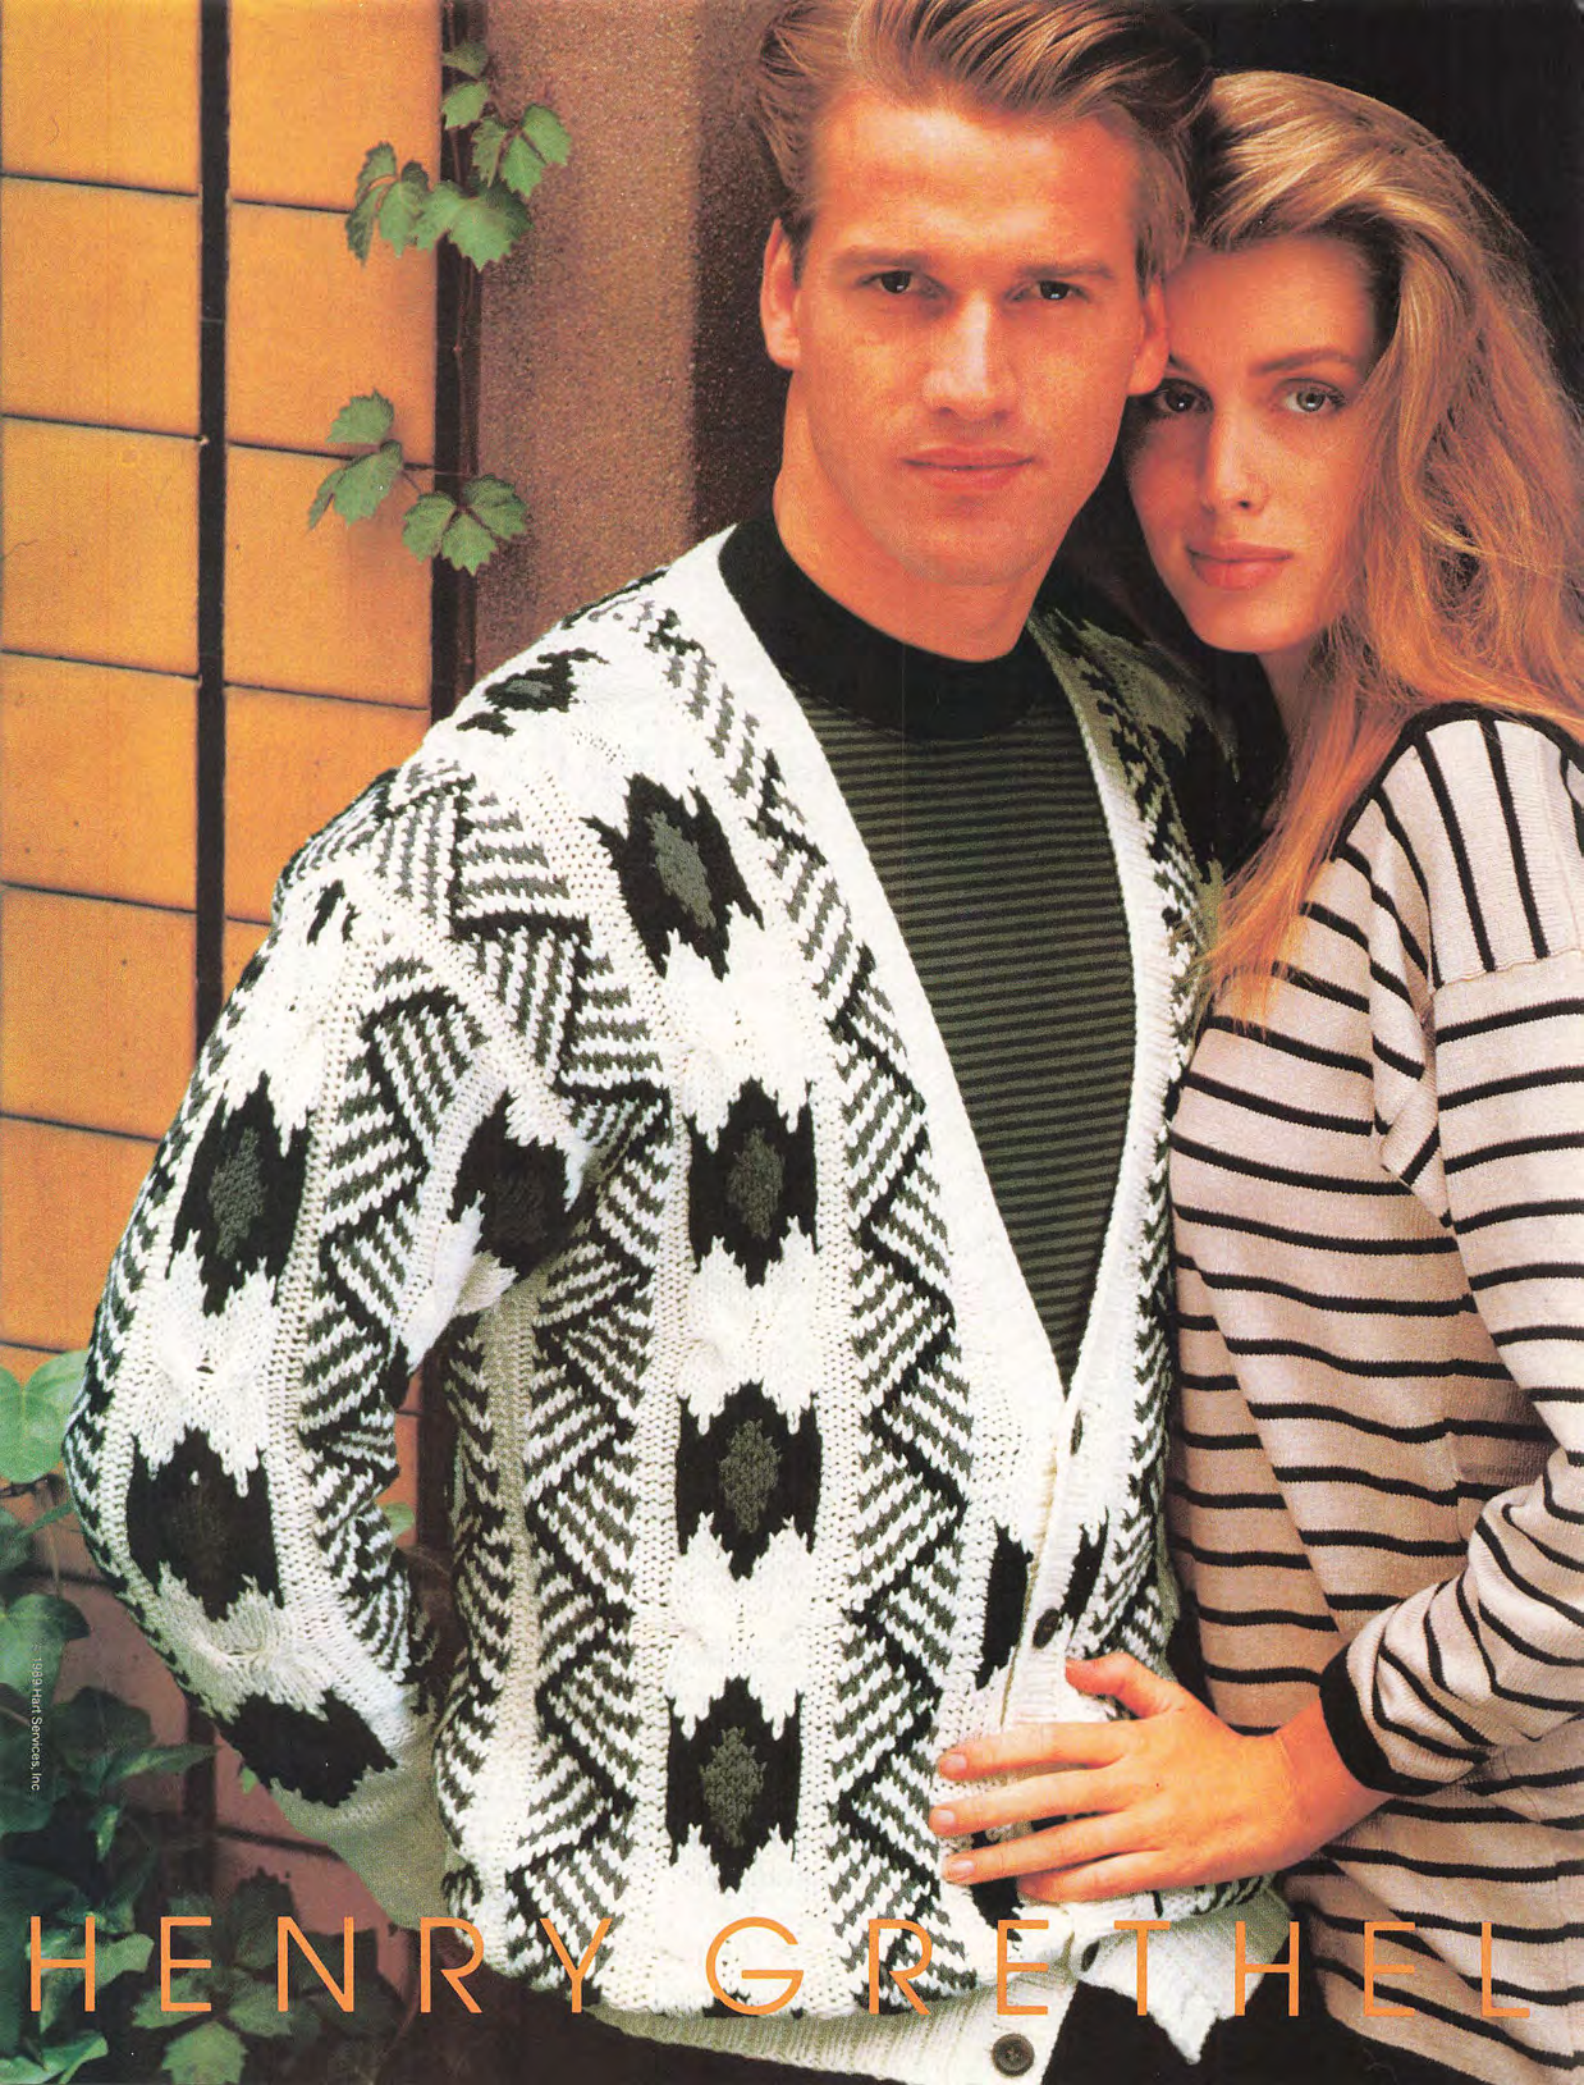

While at Michigan, Bay maintained an avid interest in commercial radio. He did color commentary for Michigan football and was a theater critic for an Ann Arbor station.

In 1981, he took over an Oregon program that was in debt and about to go on NCAA probation. In one year, Bay balanced the budget with increased revenue through a reorganization of the fund-raising program. When he left Oregon to go to Ohio State, the program was on sound financial ground and the NCAA sanctions had been lifted.

At Ohio State he instituted several innovative marketing and promotional concepts that tripled alumni fund-raising revenues. He also launched a $45 million facilities campaign, and masterminded a radio policy that nearly doubled Ohio State University's radio income.

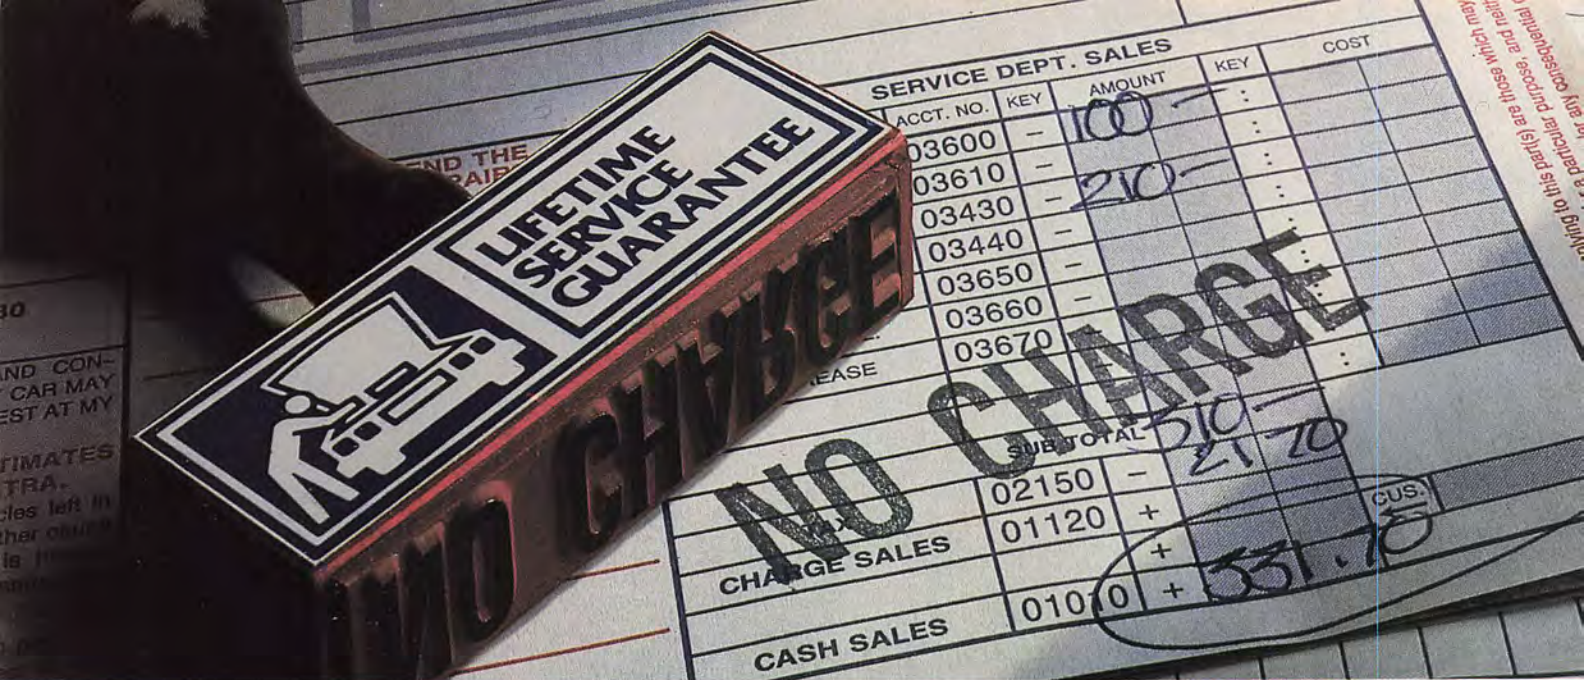

He also has an untarnished reputation as an administrator and has been a leader in numerous other areas, including taking a strong stand on substance abuse.

Bay and his wife, Denise, have a track record that stresses community involvement and they appear to be as at home in theater groups as they are in athletic arenas.

ADMINISTRATION

ASSOCIATE ATHLETIC DIRECTOR

Dan Meinert has been tabbed by Rick Bay to fill the post of associate director of men's athletics at the University, and after joining the staff in May 1989, he's now ready for his first football season with the Golden Gophers.

Serving as Bay's second in command and "right hand" in the U of M athletic administration, Meinert came to Minnesota from Ohio State University.

Meinert, 41, is a native of Grafton, Wis. He graduated from the University of Wisconsin-LaCrosse in 1970 and received his M.S. degree from UW-LaCrosse in 1978. After graduating Meinert taught and coached football and track at Ladysmith (Wis.) High School for six years. He then moved to Logan High School in LaCrosse and spent six years there as athletic director and two as a football coach.

In 1982 Meinert accepted a graduate internship at Ohio State and served on the athletic department staff while working on his doctorate until 1985, when he was named assistant athletic director.

His duties at OSU included supervision of athletic facilities and responsibility for game-day operations for football and basketball. He also coordinated construction of the recently completed Woody Hayes Athletic Center and was involved in obtaining new scoreboards for OSU's football and basketball facilities.

Meinert and his wife Mary have two children, Chad, 17, and Carley, 14.

MARK DAVY
ASSISTANT ATHLETIC DIRECTOR

Mark Davy was named Assistant Athletic Director for External Relations in the men's athletic department at the University of Minnesota in May 1989 by Rick Bay.

Davy had been director of the Champions Fund at Minnesota since 1986. During that time, he raised more than $4 million in support of the men's athletic department. One of his major accomplishments was involving "M" men in making major financial commitments to the program.

According to Bay, Davy's areas of responsibility are overseeing department operations in fund raising, coordinating the Wheel Club and licensing, marketing and promotions.

Davy, 45, is a career fund raiser and prior to joining the athletic staff nearly three years ago was the director of development at the U of M, working directly with the School of Public Health, College of Pharmacy and School of Nursing since 1983. From 1977 to 1983, Davy was the director of development for Benilde-St. Margaret's High School in St. Louis Park, Minn.

Davy graduated from Mankato State University in 1968 with a B.A. in communications. He and his wife Joan have three children, Maureen, 18, Anne, 15, and Michael, 10.

The "Wall of Fame" Building for the Future

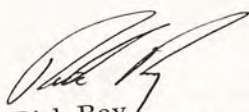

Dear Friend,

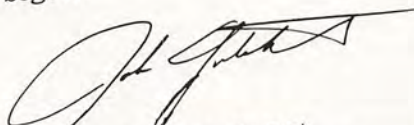

You're invited to play a very special part in the continuing upsurge in Minnesota football. In years past, great fans have supported the Golden Gopher football team through thick and thin. Now, we are asking for your help by inviting you to become part of our "Wall of Fame" in the beautiful new Bierman Football Complex reception room. Why? Because Men's Intercollegiate Athletics at the University of Minnesota are totally self-supporting. Quite honestly, we need your help to complete one of the finest facilities of its kind in America. We have a good start—the building is up and functioning—but we still have a long way to go before it is completed and paid for.

The "Wall of Fame" contains close to 150 beautiful recognition brass plaques with names of companies, friends and fans who have contributed $1,000 (or more) to the Champions Fund to help insure the future of Golden Gopher football. We're proud of the great start and grateful to all those who have helped thus far.

For most of us, a one-time $1,000 contribution is a real sacrifice even though it's tax deductible. We have designed a four-year "Wall of Fame" giving plan to make it easier. If you commit to a $1,000 gift over the next four-year period (or less), you will be added to the "Wall of Fame." We will install your personalized brass plaque that will grace the wall forever! And, we will invite you to come over for a facility tour and special viewing of your plaque! In addition, you will get a brick replica engraved with your name as a recognition gift for helping to forge the future of Golden Gopher football.

To become part of the "Wall of Fame," just fill out the form and send it along with your tax deductible check. We're looking ahead with great confidence because an exciting new Golden era of Minnesota football has begun!

STUDENT-ATHLETES

ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE STRESSED AT MINNESOTA

To ease the transition of the student-athlete into the University and assist throughout his college career, academic counseling is provided for members of all athletic teams. Dr. Elayne M. Donahue, director of the counseling unit, heads a staff dedicated exclusively to the academic development of student-athletes.

Counselors, working with college advisers, give special attention to coordinating an appropriate baccalaureate program into the student-athlete's demanding schedule. The counselor also provides personal support and guidance, assistance in selecting a major and information about eligibility requirements. Student-athletes may participate in daytime and/or evening study groups as well as receive tutorial assistance.

Brian Berube joined the academic counseling unit in 1983 and is the academic counselor for members of the football team. He has a master's degree in counseling from the University of Missouri and served as an athletic academic counselor at Florida State University and the University of Missouri before coming to Minnesota.

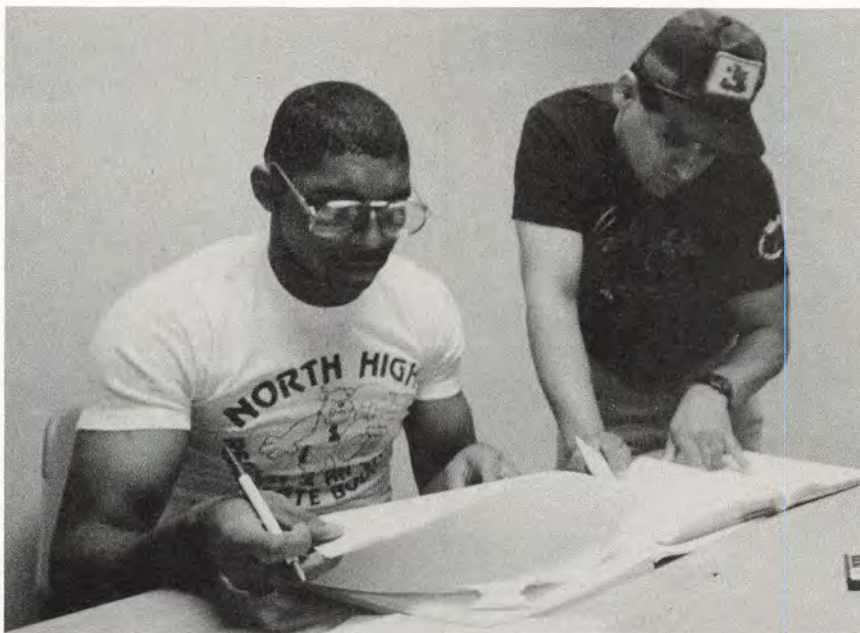

Coach John Gutekunst supports, motivates and challenges football team members to achieve the goal of graduating from the University.

Minnesota's concern for its student-athletes developed from a study conducted recently that showed a definite need for gathering, analyzing and reporting academic information pertaining to athletes.

It was found that there was not enough time for individual counseling and it was deemed that more tutoring services were needed.

Minnesota's total commitment to the academic program for its student-athletes is reflected in the new football facility, which includes several tutoring areas, counseling rooms, study areas and offices for the academic staff.

“Upgrade and Free.
Two of my favorite words.”

Unlimited free upgrades start at 5,000 miles with TWA's
Frequent Flight Bonus Program.

And you don't cash in your mileage credits to receive them.

Once you've flown 5,000 miles, you're entitled to confirmed upgrades to Business Class on any TWA wide-body flight within the continental U.S.

After 30,000 miles, you can be upgraded to First Class on domestic flights and to Business Class on international flights.

And with TWA, your mileage credits never expire.

Who else can say that?

So call 1-800-221-2000 for details about TWA's Frequent Flight Bonus Program — the one program that awards you, not just eventually, but constantly.

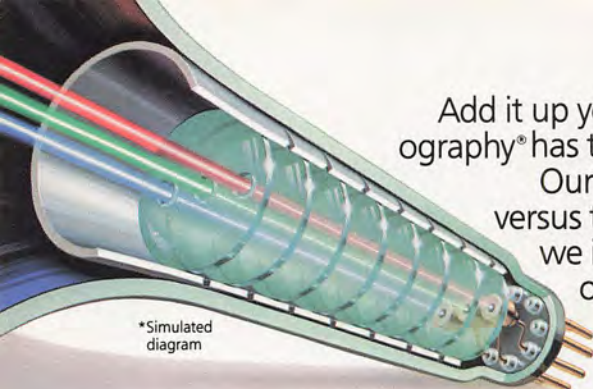

The TWA logo is rendered in a bold, red, sans-serif typeface. The letters are thick and closely spaced, with a slight slant to the 'T' and 'W'. The 'A' is also bold and red, matching the rest of the logo.

THE PROVING GROUND . . .

Add it up yourself. Toshiba's SUPER TUBE™ TV with Super Carver Sonic Holography® has the world's largest FST® picture tube.

Our new Hi Drive delivery system uses a dual path electron gun, versus the conventional single path gun. Our lenses are bigger.* And we increased their number to eight rather than four—the most any other picture tube maker uses.

What it all amounts to is a picture with 700 lines of resolution whose sharpness, brightness and contrast is unprecedented in a TV of any size.

But that's only half the equation. Toshiba's new Super Carver® System is the most advanced television sound system available. Carver Sonic Holography® has been combined with a newly-developed Dipole

Spatial Sound™ speaker, which, when mounted behind the TV or placed behind the viewer, creates sound so real and intense, it will actually make the picture seem bigger.

Add to this some of the most advanced features ever developed for a TV, like remote-controlled swivel motors that allow the TV and two of its speakers to each turn 15 degrees left or right, full on-screen displays, 181-channel cable compatibility, and a complete A/V jack pack.

Why our 32" TV is greater than anyone else's 35."

Equally impressive are Toshiba's new full-size SK-F200 VHS camcorder and SV-F990 Super VHS VCR with multiple pro-edit features and digital special effects.

The sum total is a larger-than-life experience beyond calculation. You see, the competition claims to be ahead of us by inches. But, Toshiba's technology is ahead by miles.

CONDITIONING THE GOPHERS

Strength training has become as much a part of preparation for playing football as is putting on the pads. This emphasis on increased strength, size and power is illustrated by the number of new and improved strength-training facilities being erected on college campuses across the nation. At the same time, these new facilities are being filled with better-designed and more effective equipment.

The University of Minnesota Gopher football program is one that has recognized the necessity for proper preparation through strength training. The weight room, 7,500 square feet of space located in the recently constructed $5.5 million football complex, is equipped with the most up-to-date equipment. There are more than 100 strength stations that can accommodate up to 200 athletes at one time. Each piece of equipment was chosen on the basis of its own merits, including design, durability and how it fits into the scheme of strength programming used at the University of Minnesota.

In conjunction with the state-of-the-art equipment are the modern day student-athletes who require a specialized program to compete effectively at the Division I level. Each athlete is evaluated by our team of physicians and training staff to determine his individual strengths and weaknesses. From this report each athlete is given a strength and conditioning program that best meets his needs for success. Though each program is slightly different they all contain the core lifts that we feel are vital for our success: the bench, incline, power clean and squat or hip sled.

The athlete's progress is carefully checked from the day he arrives by a computer program that monitors his increase by each lift and particular performance test (e.g., 40-yard dash). Also we take photographs and specific body measurements to help motivate and calculate each athlete's progress.

The strength and conditioning program is a year-round activity with both in-season and off-season workouts. These include education on nutrition that is essential to enhance athletic performance. We also have an outstanding redshirt program during the football season, which allows our young athletes a chance to mature physically while learning the intricate skills of college football.

The many parts of the strength and conditioning program fit like cogs in a wheel to make our student-athletes the most efficient and injury-free football players possible.

Tonight's Opponent . . .

Minnesota's Golden Gophers open their 1989 home football slate tonight by playing host to the University of Nebraska in the 50th meeting between these two ancient non-conference rivals.

The Cornhuskers and the Golden Gophers first met in 1900 when Minnesota posted a 20-12 triumph. The Golden Gophers lead in the series 29-18-2, but Nebraska has won the 12 most recent confrontations including 38-7 in 1984.

This year Coach Tom Osborne's invaders have won two straight, beating Northern Illinois 48-17 in the opener two weeks ago and then downing Utah 42-30 this past weekend.

Coach John Gutekunst's charges kicked off the year by winning on the road . . . 30-20 at Iowa State last Saturday. Thus the Golden Gophers are at home for the first time this season tonight . . . but they'll be facing a Big Eight Conference opponent for the second straight week.

Osborne's Huskers currently are ranked third in the nation. But being up there in the top ten is nothing new for the visitors. "Nebraska is a great team as always," Coach Gutekunst said earlier this week. "They are a perennial college football power with great players and great athletes. This year is no exception."

The Cornhuskers have a host of talent, but one player to watch tonight is Ken Clark, a senior I-Back who has rushed for 2,139 yards in his career at Nebraska. He got 130 yards last weekend against Utah, and he now ranks 11th on the Husker's all-time rushing list.

Gutekunst was Minnesota's defensive coordinator in 1984 when the Golden Gophers lost that 38-7 game down in Lincoln, but this will be his first shot at the Cornhuskers as a head coach.

And the last time Minnesota beat Nebraska was in 1960 when it "upset" the 12th ranked Huskers 26-14 at Lincoln. Coach Murray Warmath's Golden Gophers went on to win the national championship that year.

Nebraska has won eight straight games here in Minneapolis. The last win for the Golden Gophers at home over the Huskers was 19-7 in 1954 in old Memorial Stadium.

Visiting Coach Osborne is in his 17th year as head man at Nebraska and has a career record of 160-36-2 (.813). That's tops among the nation's active Division I coaches.

The goals of the University of Nebraska football team in its centennial season really won't be much different from those of past years.

The 1989 Cornhuskers hope to defend the Big Eight title which they won in 1988, earn a return trip to the Orange Bowl, and they hope to earn a high national ranking, challenging for the national title.

Those are high aspirations, but nothing new to a Nebraska program which has an NCAA-record streak of 27-consecutive winning seasons since 1962, a nation-leading string of 20-straight bowl appearances, a 19-year run of finishing in at least one wire-service top 10, and a 20-season run of winning at least nine games.

Veteran Coach Osborne says he thinks his 17th team, and Nebraska's 100th, is capable of adding to the Cornhusker gridiron tradition, but he knows some big holes must be filled if the Huskers are to reach their goals.

"We're just not as experienced as we've sometimes been in the past," Osborne said at the end of spring practice. "We lost 12 starters, and 11 of those were All-Big Eight players, so we not only have to replace a lot of people, we have to replace a lot of very talented players."

Among those lost was quarterback Steve Taylor, who led Nebraska to a combined 31-6 record in three years as a starter while racking up a school-record 62 career total-offense touchdowns and the third-most total-offense yards in school history (4,940). The task of replacing him has led to a lot of speculation and worry on the part of Husker partisans in the months since Taylor finished his career in the Orange Bowl vs. Miami.

Osborne, of course, is the key speculator about the NU quarterback situation, but he's not one of the worriers.

"I feel good about the quarterback position," he said. "We have good athletes, and, overall, the quarterbacks played well in the spring. They just need a little time to get stability."

Fifth-year senior Gerry Gdowski emerged from the spring with a slight edge, and he's listed as the starter for Saturday's game.

Osborne expresses no worry about the other "skill" positions on offense, since the bulk of last year's talent is back in the fold, led by All-Big Eight senior I-back Clark, who ran for 1,497 yards in 1988, 1,069 yards coming in the last six games. He was the fifth-leading rusher in the NCAA, but his year, the fourth-best in Nebraska history, was one of the quietest 1,500-yard seasons ever, thanks to Big Eight rival Barry Sanders' incredible Heisman Trophy-winning season at Oklahoma State.

In the line, the Huskers return All-America center Jake Young. Osborne said he was pleased with the spring progress of tackle Tom Punt (6-8, 285), and guards Jim Wanek, Bill Bobbora and John Roschal, but, he said, "We really need some backup people to come through. Right now, it's the area that needs the most improvement."

hit by graduation as seven starters are gone, six of whom earned All-Big Eight honors in 1988, including two-time All-America outside linebacker Broderick Thomas, the Butkus Award runner-up and a Lombardi Award finalist, and the sixth player taken in the 1989 NFL draft.

Overall, the Huskers lose two of three starting linemen in NFL draft choices Lawrence Pete and Willie Griffin, two of four starting linebackers, and four of their top five defensive backs, including two-time academic All-America safety Mark Blazek.

About UN...

The University of Nebraska-Lincoln is one of the nation's most dynamic universities.

Rich in pioneering history and spirit, NU was chartered by the Nebraska Legislature in 1869. The University established the first graduate program west of the Mississippi River in the mid-1880s and was selected for membership in the prestigious Association of American Universities in 1909.

Over the years, alumni such as Willa Cather, Mari Sandoz and Roscoe Pound have enriched the University's tradition of leadership and scholarly excellence.

Today, more than 25,000 students from all parts of the world attend classes on NU's campus in Lincoln, Nebraska's All-American capital city.

The University is the intellectual center of the region. As Nebraska's comprehensive, land-grant university, NU serves a tripartite mission of teaching, research and service.

Quality instruction is emphasized in NU's eight undergraduate colleges and the professional, graduate College of Law. The Colleges of Agriculture, Architecture, Arts and Sciences, Business Administration, Engineering and Technology, Home Economics, Teachers College and School of Journalism offer more than 100 degree programs leading to career opportunities in the arts, the sciences, the humanities, and the professions. The NU faculty includes many prominent scholars.

In research, NU faculty and students stand at the forefront of discovery in many fields. Among well-known research activities at the University are projects involving mass spectrometry, cell biology, genetic engineering, transportation, video-disc development for the hearing impaired, linguistic and folklore analysis, educational television, tractor testing, livestock, and crop production, conservation, meat technology, animal and plant health, agricultural marketing and economics.

In service, the University of Nebraska reaches thousands of citizens each year through programs conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service and the Division of Continuing Studies. The Cooperative Extension Service provides all Nebraskans with information and assistance in agriculture and natural resources, home economics and family living, 4-H and youth development and community resource development. Continuing Studies offers alternatives to formal on-campus education with programs such as summer reading, evening classes, independent study by correspondence, telecourses and study tours.

Modern educational facilities and a diverse cultural life add to the environment for teaching and learning at NU.

The Lincoln campus is home to the nationally renowned Sheldon Memorial Art Gallery and Sculpture Garden, the University of Nebraska State Museum, the Christlieb Collection of Western Art and to the University's championship Big Eight conference men's and women's athletic teams.

An exciting university with a tradition of historic excellence, a quality presence and a dynamic future: That's the University of Nebraska!

Your 1989 Minnesota Marching Band

With Fall classes commencing just a few days ago, your Minnesota Marching Band has been rehearsing for nearly two weeks in preparation for a busy football season. "Spat Camp", the pre-season training session for new and returning Bandmembers, began September 10th as the Rank Lieutenants met with Marching Band Director Dr. Barry E. Kopetz and new Graduate Assistants Bob Ouren and Scott Hagen, in anticipation of the arrival of nearly two hundred Bandmembers the next day.

Ten days of intensive rehearsals and practice followed, as the "Vets" taught the "Rookies" Minnesota's unique 'chair position' marching style. Movements and music, the key factors that must be combined to create a halftime show, were practiced from dawn to dusk. After just two days of rehearsal, Kopetz observed that the 1989 Band has a fantastic attitude, enthusiasm, and spirit that will undoubtedly provide Gopher fans with an exciting season of music and pageantry in the Metrodome.

Highlights for the Band this Fall will include High School Band Day (Sept. 30), Homecoming (Oct. 7), a trip to Evanston (Oct. 14) to root the Gophers on to victory over the Wildcats, and the annual Indoor Concerts at Northrop Auditorium on Nov. 12 and 19.

Pregame Show

Tonight's pregame show begins with a fanfare as the Band enters the field from the tunnel endzone. Third-year Drum Major Kirk Juergens of Bloomington, Minnesota leads the Band downfield to the time-honored tempo of John Philip Sousa's "Minnesota March".

Welcoming Gopher fans to this first gridiron contest of the 1989 season, the Band pays tribute with another traditional favorite, "Our Minnesota". Moving across the field with "Go, Gopher Victory", the Band pauses to salute the visiting Cornhusker fans with their fight song.

Of course, no Minnesota pregame show would be complete without the dramatic Swinging Gates, performed to the stirring strains of the "Battle Hymn of the Republic" arranged by Dr. Frank Bencriscutto. Please rise as the colors pass, and join former Drum Major Jim Mitchell in singing our National Anthem.

Finally, as Marching Band Director Dr. Barry E. Kopetz brings the Band to midfield, watch as the "Block M" unfolds from the 50-yard-line. Now, let's hear that Golden Gopher pride burst forth, by joining in singing and clapping to the song that's been a U of M tradition for 80 years, the "Minnesota Rouser".

Halftime Highlights

The Minnesota trumpets begin tonight's halftime extravaganza with Bill Chase's screamer, "Get It On", a Band favorite from the 1988 season arranged by Dr. Barry E. Kopetz.

Next is a new Red McLeod arrangement of an old standard sure to please Gopher fans of all ages, "Blues In The Night". As the Minnesota Band's most devoted alumnus, Red has been providing special musical arrangements for the Band for over half a century. The Minnesota Flags are featured in this latest treat from Red's prolific pen.

The Band continues with an early 1970's hit by the Temptations, "Can't Get Next To You", followed by a John Tatgenhorst arrangement of Whitney Houston's beautiful ballad, "One Moment In Time".

Finally, please rise and join in singing our Alma Mater, "Hail! Minnesota".

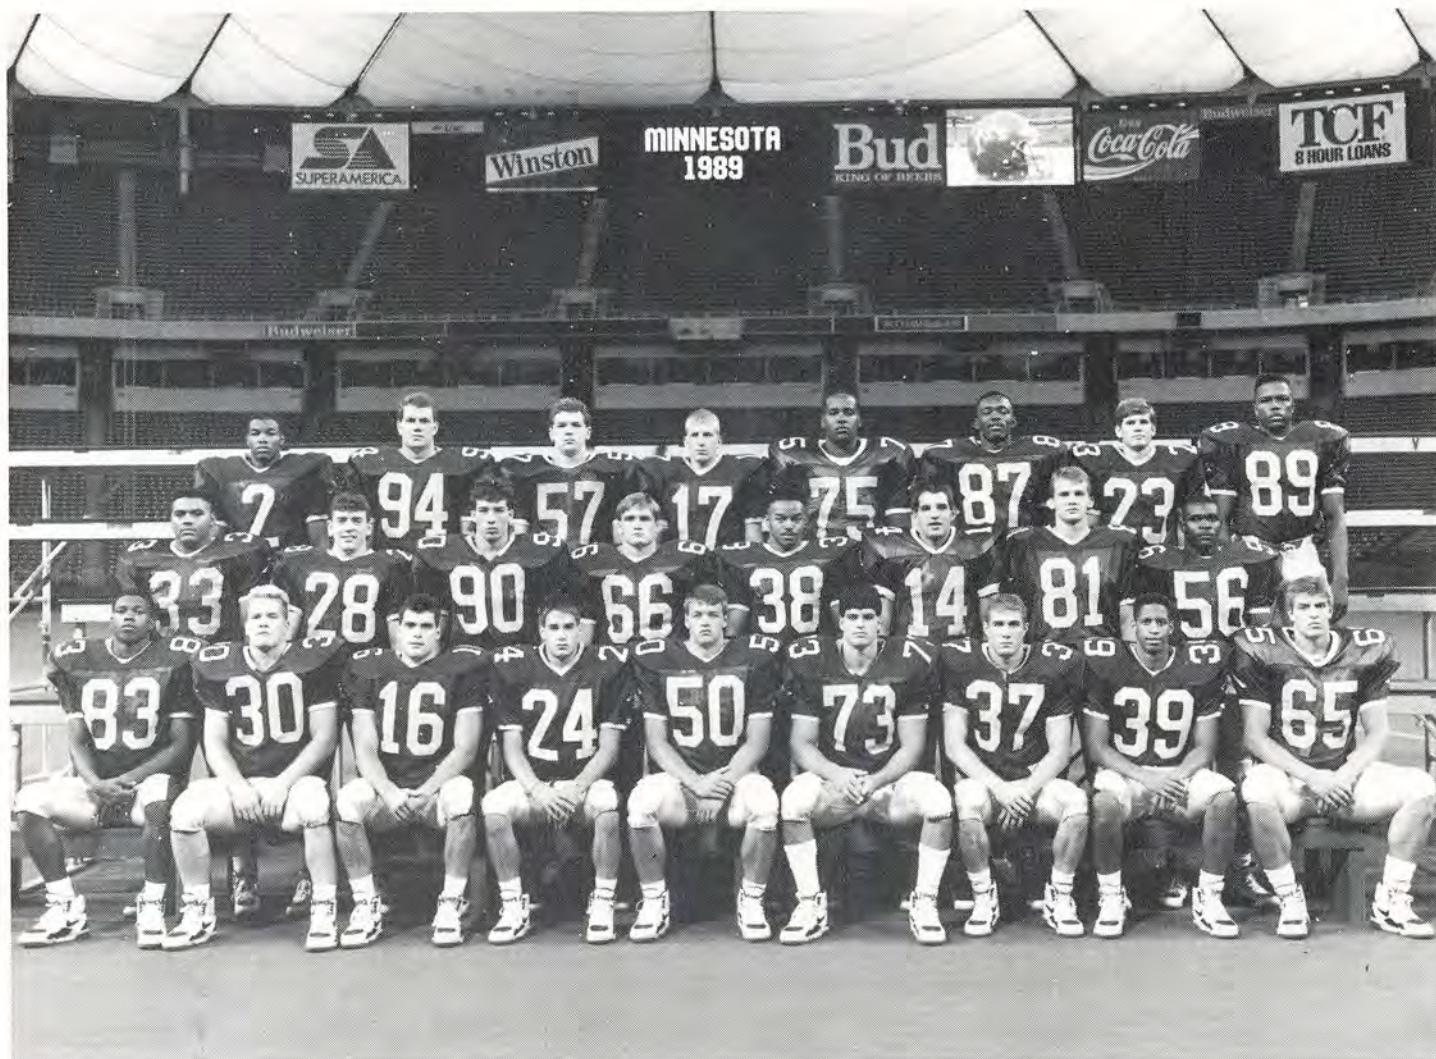

Indoor Concerts

It's not too early to reserve your seats for the 28th Annual Indoor Marching Band Concerts to be held November 12 and 19 in Northrop Auditorium. Tickets are available at the Northrop Ticket Office (624-2345).

We're not the kind of place you'll find on the strip. Our atmosphere has always been as real as our ribs. So when we moved, we were careful to keep our old wooden booths, our diner-style jukeboxes and our wall of celebrity photos. What we added were an antique African mahogany and marble bar, stocked with a full line of premium liquor, and a few other throwbacks to our distant past. You should have seen this place 43 years ago. And now you can.

After all these years, we've loosened our collar.

That's why this season, you'll be able to wear our new knits, sport shirts and sweaters.
And since you've always expected quality from Arrow dress shirts, that's what you'll find in Arrow sportswear.
After all, even when we're dressing down, we're still buttoned up.

"Find us computers that will let us do many jobs at once, Sinkfield, and it'll be another feather in your cap."

How're you going to do it?

No one ever made their mark in business by doing just one thing at a time. So to stay competitive, you need your computers to do a lot of business tasks at once.

The Genius Of Micro Channel. That's why IBM developed the Personal System/2® computers with Micro Channel™. Micro Channel is like a multilane highway, so information can travel in lots of directions at once. With optional bus master cards, it's like having many computers in one, some managing printers and fax machines, another busy calculating a spreadsheet and others working on graphics or transferring data. And Micro Channel does all of this with remarkable speed and reliability. Naturally, a PS/2® with Micro Channel runs DOS applications, and add OS/2 to this equation, and the benefits of multitasking can make you and your people even more productive.

The Solution Is IBM. The PS/2 with Micro Channel will provide you with solutions not only today but far into the future. See your IBM Authorized Dealer or IBM marketing representative. For a dealer near you, call 1 800 IBM-2468, ext. 139. And see how much more you can do when you PS/2 it!

Turbo Grand Prix. A Sophisticated Toast To Your Hot Rod Heart.

Here's to everyone who knows firsthand what automotive adrenaline is all about. Start with a turbo-intercooled 3.1L V6 featuring performance components, close-tolerance assembly and 205 hp*. There's also a specific 4-speed automatic transmission with special converter and shift calibration. The suspension has hefty stabilizer bars and a 4-wheel anti-lock brake system. Performance-specific wheel well flares house Z-rated Gatorback tires and special alloy Crosslace wheels. There are specific fascia and aero skirting; even functional hood louvers that enhance engine compartment cooling. Inside, there are analog gauges and a Head-Up Instrument Display that projects speed and other vital functions onto the windshield. It's fighter plane technology. And just the right stuff for Turbo Grand Prix.

Only one camera can predict the future.

Maxxum® 7000i's Predictive Autofocus knows where your subject will be before it gets there.

It's a sure thing. The best way to capture a race, or any other fast-moving action, is with the new Maxxum® 7000i. With three major advances in autofocus technology it's way ahead of the field.

First, Predictive Autofocus calculates the speed and direction of your subject until the instant you release the shutter. Second, the widest focusing area—as much as 12 times wider than other SLR's—means your main subject can be off-center and still be in perfect focus. And third, Maxxum 7000i is the fastest auto-focus camera in the world.

This Maxxum's your best bet for other reasons, too. "Intelligent" auto-exposure, optional Creative Expansion Cards and five new ultra-compact zoom lenses, to name a few.

Which is why it's also safe to predict that there's a Maxxum 7000i in your future.

GOLDEN GOPHER AIDES

BOB ROHDE STRENGTH AND CONDITIONING COACH

Bob Rohde joined the University of Minnesota athletic staff in 1979 as the Gophers' first strength coach and director of the Gold Country weight-training program.

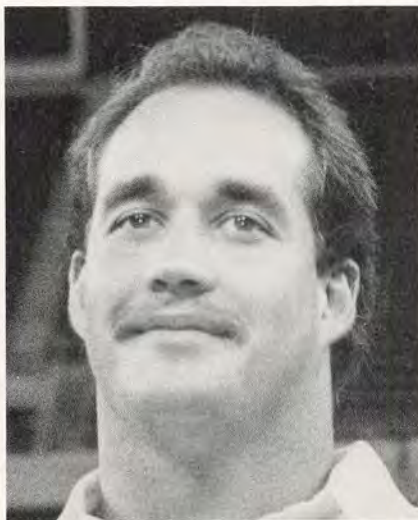

Forty-one years old and married, Rohde is a product of nearby Wisconsin. He attended Watertown High School there and lettered in football, basketball and track. Rohde gained all-state honors in football and basketball as a prepster, playing halfback on the gridiron and guard on the hardwood.

Following his graduation in 1965, Rohde attended the University of Wisconsin-Stevens Point, where he was a four-year starter at halfback and earned all-conference honors.

From Stevens Point, Rohde signed with the Denver Broncos of the National Football League and played one season with the Broncos. It was during his tour of duty in Denver that he became active in weight programs.

Since then Rohde has taught and coached at high schools in Oshkosh and Stevens Point in his native state of Wisconsin. His special area of attention at both sites was strength training and conditioning.

Married, Bob and his wife, Nancy, reside in New Brighton.

LEROY HUCKE ASSISTANT STRENGTH AND CONDITIONING COACH

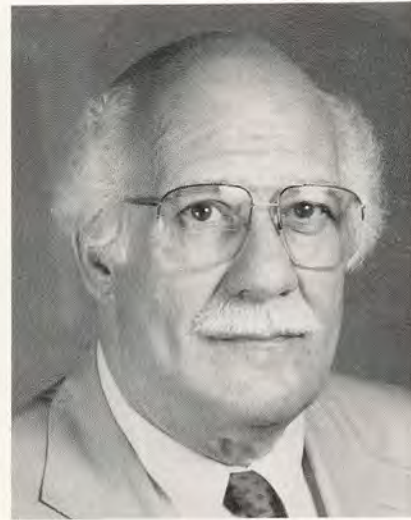

LeRoy Hucke returns to the Golden Gopher coaching staff for the 1989 campaign as an assistant under Bob Rohde in the strength and conditioning program.

Hucke came to Minnesota from Stevens Point, Wis., where he attended high school and college. As a prepster, Hucke gained all-conference honors in football as an offensive guard and defensive end, and he also gained all-state honors in that sport as a senior.

Then he moved on to the University of Wisconsin-Stevens Point, where he played defensive tackle and again gained all-conference honors. He also served as team captain in his final campaign.

His coaching career began at Stevens Point High School in 1983, when he worked with the offensive and defensive line coach and held that post until casting his lot with the Golden Gophers.

Hucke received his B.S. degree from UW-Stevens Point in 1986. Still single, he is pursuing a graduate degree in agriculture while at the University of Minnesota.

PAT LAVIN DIRECTOR, STUDENT-ATHLETE EMPLOYMENT PROGRAM

Pat Lavin is in his second year as the director of the employment program for student-athletes, and Golden Gopher football players are among the benefactors of the program.

Lavin is a Twin Cities product. He was born and raised in Minneapolis and graduated from Washburn High School in 1946. After graduation, he attended St. Thomas College in St. Paul.

His illustrious career in the banking business began in the mid-50s and for 34 years Lavin was a major contributor to the First Bank System's success in the marketing area.

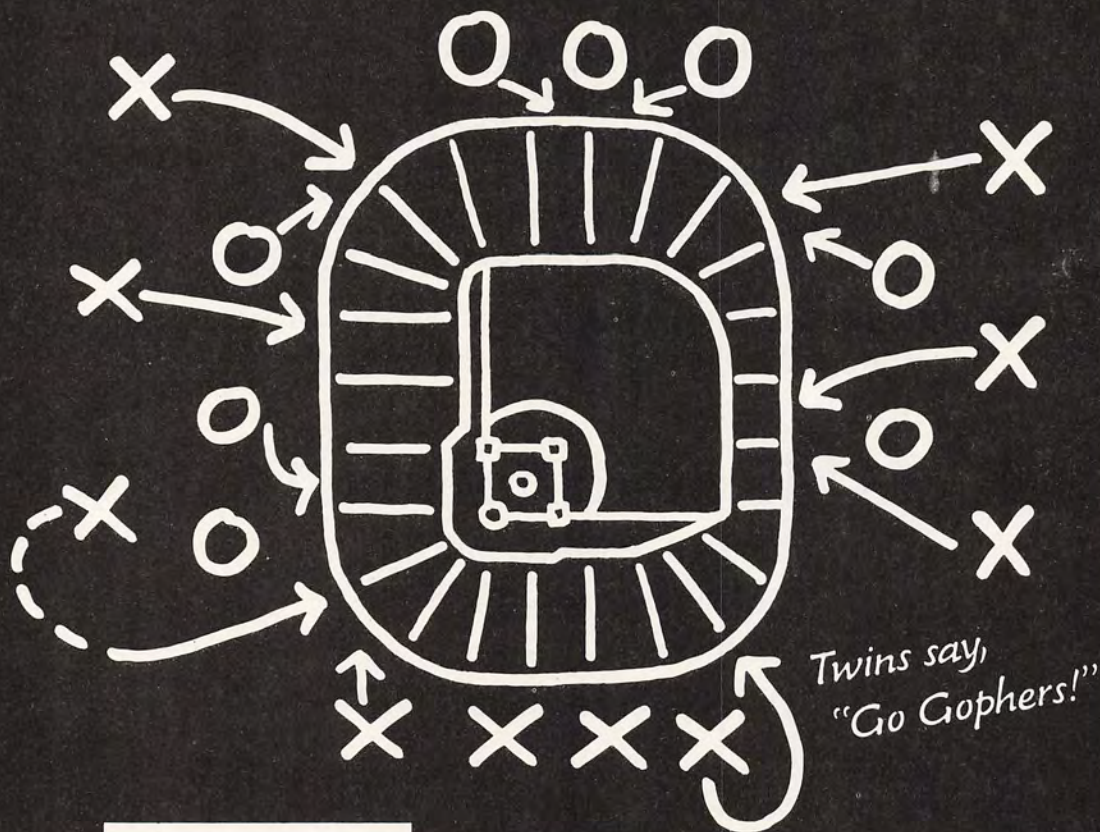

Lavin became vice-president with First Bank Minneapolis before retiring in March 1988. His "inactivity" was short-lived, however, for he began his volunteer work with Minnesota a month later.

Over the years Lavin has been an active participant and fan in athletics, and he has long been a Golden Gopher loyalist. He welcomed the opportunity to make a contribution to the success of the program.

At the present time, Lavin works closely with members of the Goal Line club and with small and large companies in the Twin Cities area, seeking jobs for U of M student-athletes. He also seeks summer employment for Golden Gophers in their hometowns outside the Twin Cities area, as well as outside Minnesota.

MINNESOTA BOASTS NATION'S BEST FACILITY

In 1985, a modern facility dedicated to college education and Division I football was completed on the main campus of the University of Minnesota.

It ranks as one of the finest, if not THE finest, facilities of its kind in the nation. Football coaches throughout the country visit the U of M for the specific purpose of seeing what a first-class structure should be like.

Classrooms, meeting rooms, film rooms, training rooms, equipment room, film processing center, counseling and study rooms, the U of M Proving Ground (an indoor practice area) all are combined to give Golden Gopher student-athletes and staff the best conditions possible.

The practice area, which houses a full-sized, regulation football field with AstroTurf, has 65,000 square feet. It measures 57 feet from the playing surface to the highest point and is constructed of brick and metal skin.

In the three-story office and team portion of the building, Minnesota student-athletes, coaches and staff have available 18 offices, a full-team meeting room, two specialized meeting rooms, a staff conference room, three academic counseling and study rooms, a "Hall of Fame" lounge with an attached kitchen, an equipment and laundry room, a training room, three locker rooms, a weight training room with 6,000 square feet, a steam room, sauna and spacious storage areas.

The Prelude S HONDA

The elements of Timberland design are solid brass eyelets, oil-impregnated leather, wind, water, earth and sky.

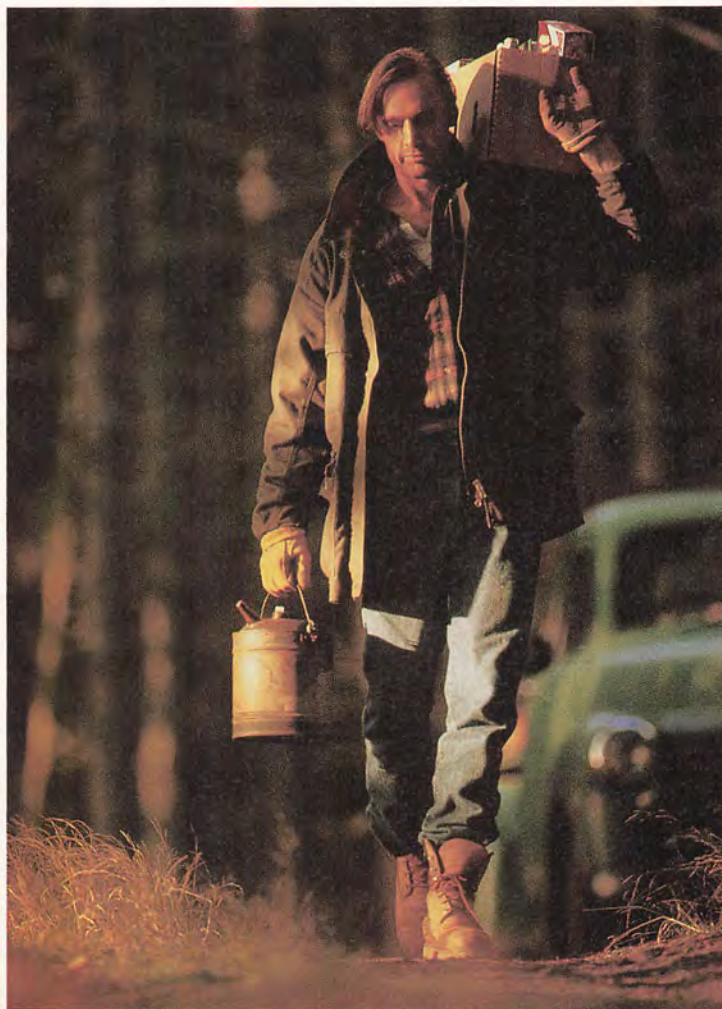

In the 20 years since our craftsmen hand-built the world's first guaranteed waterproof boot, Timberland® boots have raced across Alaska. Timberland shoes have taken Italy by storm. And Timberland apparel has traveled from the foothills of the Rockies to the canyons of Wall Street. Wherever men or women face the elements to reach an appointed place—be it the office or the outpost.

It has always been our belief that the elements that shape the earth itself, the very ground we walk on, should also shape the clothing we wear and the shoes in which we walk.

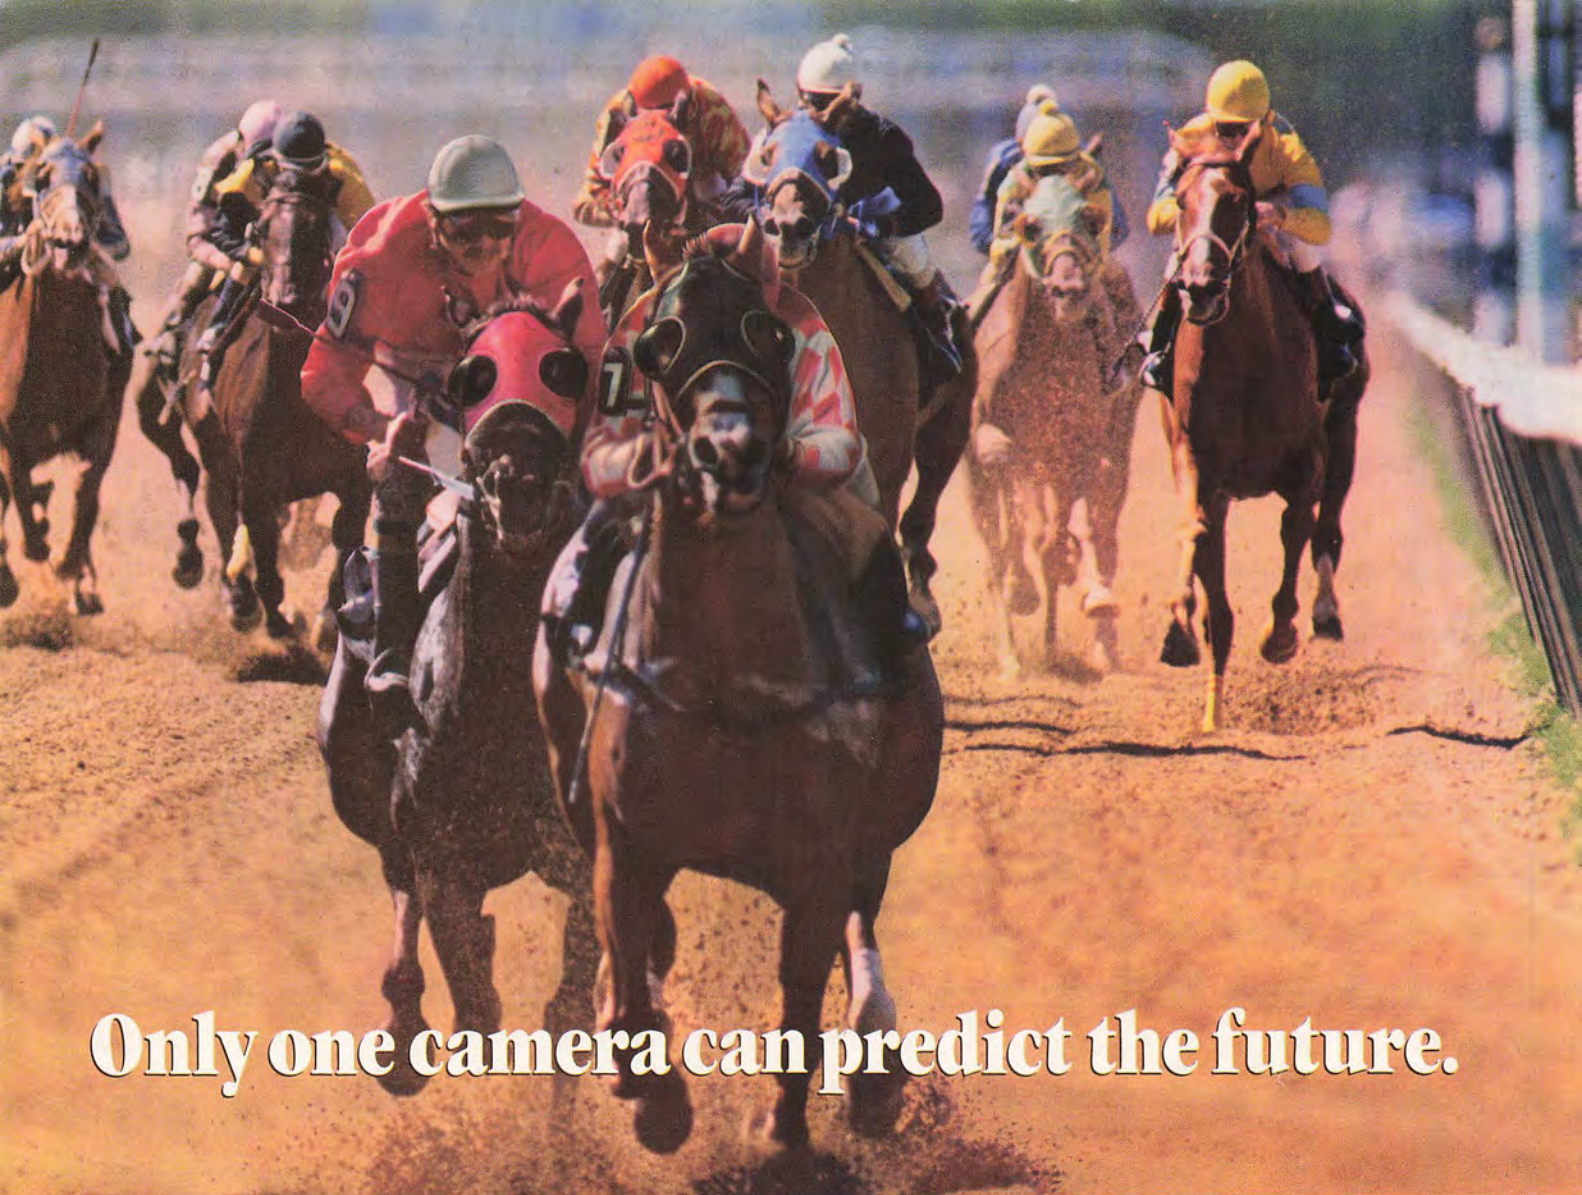

Whether our path leads to the highest peak in Colorado or the tallest skyscraper in Chicago. And whether we are from the West or East. Women or men.

These elements, quite simply, are wind, water, earth and sky. In alliance with the world's most enduring leathers, they are the elements that make up our entire line of boots, shoes and clothing.

Designed for today. And years from today.

Boots, shoes, clothing, wind, water, earth and sky.

Only one camera can predict the future.

Maxxum® 7000i's Predictive Autofocus knows where your subject will be before it gets there.

It's a sure thing. The best way to capture a race, or any other fast-moving action, is with the new Maxxum® 7000i. With three major advances in autofocus technology it's way ahead of the field.

First, Predictive Autofocus calculates the speed and direction of your subject until the instant you release the shutter. Second, the widest focusing area—as much as 12 times wider than other SLR's—means your main subject can be off-center and still be in perfect focus. And third, Maxxum 7000i is the fastest autofocus camera in the world.

This Maxxum's your best bet for other reasons, too. "Intelligent" auto-exposure, optional Creative Expansion Cards and five new ultra-compact zoom lenses, to name a few.

Which is why it's also safe to predict that there's a Maxxum 7000i in your future.
